Stay Until Dawn Elizabeth Oldfield,1991-01-01 Six Months to Live Lurlene McDaniel,2013-08-01 Audisee eBooks with Audio combine professional narration and sentence highlighting for an engaging read aloud experience Thirteen is supposed to be a great age dances cheerleading boys but she never thought it would also include cancer Dawn Rochelle is about to face the toughest fight of her life a fight she has to win Otherwise she has only six months to live I Live Again Brenda Harwood,2017-03-24 My story begins on Tuesday the thirteenth of June 1978 that was the day my life changed forever If you have read my first book My Truth you will understand what I am talking about but for those who have not then I shall explain My husband Neville and I had both decided to watch the New Granada series starring Tim Curry and Ian McShane We had both seen Tim in the Rocky Horror Show so when we read that he was playing in a costume drama we thought it would be interesting to watch him in a different role as William Shakespeare So we had our tea and sat down together to watch the programme Well we were both enjoying it until the second half when it came to the murder of a man called Christopher Marlowe who I never knew existed until that night At the time of his murder I suddenly turned to Neville and said I didnt die I didnt die like that those words I could not stop from coming out and I kept repeating those words over and over Live 'Til I Die Barry Thorpe,2013-08-29 Live Til I Die is set back against the backdrop of the turbulent years of World War II It is loosely based on the authors fathers experiences as a decorated spitfire pilot The human drama is mostly fictional but does have some elements of family history in it The war effort is described mainly from a Canadian perspective and primarily from the point of view of war in the air The Experiences of Ghanaian Live-in Caregivers in the United States Martha Donkor,2017-11-15 Using the convergence of the impact of globalization and political turmoil in Ghana on Ghanaian women as a backdrop this book examines the migration of the women to the US and their decisions to care for upper middle class white seniors who elected to stay in their homes to be cared for by private caregivers The book explores the attraction of domestic care work the women s perceptions of their job their relationships with their clients and the dynamics of their relationships with their immediate families and families left behind in Ghana It also analyzes the women s interactions with the immigrant community from their remote work sites The book examines widely held beliefs about domestic work as undervalued under remunerated and relegated to marginalized immigrant women of color While admitting that these problems exist the women whose stories are told in the book did not believe that their brand of care work which they called private practice was undervalued or underpaid They also did not think that racism played a role in the concentration of immigrant women of color in domestic care work as widely believed although again the women admitted that there was racism in American society By doing so the women symbolically placed themselves beyond the institutional barriers that constrain the lives of women of color in American society And while it addresses common themes like exploitation abuse restriction of movement etc that other studies of immigrant live in caregiving address this book stands out in two major ways First is its truly transnational character It links the women s background in Ghana to their immigration history and how these two influenced their choice as well as perceptions of care work and then loops their experience of care work back to expectations in Ghana Second the book validates the women s voices as a product of their cultural background thus making the case that the women s choices and experiences were informed by conditions in the US and the cultural baggage the women brought with them The book argues that private care work satisfied women s financial expectations and with that leverage in their families
