The Essentials of Islamic Banking, Finance, and Capital Markets John Oluseyi Kuforiji, 2022-11-15 This multidisciplinary book on Islamic finance covers Islamic economic financial and legal systems insurance takaful commercial jurisprudence and the socio political and political economy of the Islamic world. It examines the dichotomies and similarities between Islamic and conventional financial systems and suggests future roles and governance of Islamic financial institutions. Distinctive features of the second edition include an emphasis on the theoretical foundations of Islamic finance the distinctions between the micro and macroeconomic concepts and theories to the readers and an expansion on Islamic approved forms of trade dealings transactions and contracts. Furthermore this work discusses the newly introduced Islamic capital market products of the years 2020 to 2022 including the transition from the inter bank offer rates IBORs as global benchmark lending rate to the new risk free rates RFRs that became effective on January 1 2022 and discusses the transition of Saudi Arabia Monetary Agency to Saudi Central Bank in 2020. Though every effort is made to avoid tedious mathematical proof and derivatives this work provides working calculations for the pricing of Islamic instruments and provides supplemental materials in the form of faculty resources and students study guide and workbook. This work acts as a useful textbook for graduate and advanced undergraduate students who are looking at broadening their knowledge in finance. Similarly this book is a helpful guide and tool for financial practitioners who are interested in learning more about the innovative discipline of Islamic finance. For financial practitioners to derive maximum benefits from this innovative financing mechanism they need to know understand and participate in the investment opportunities which are provided by Islamic finance.

The United States, the European Union, and the Globalization of World Trade Thomas C. Fischer, 2000-04-30 Professor Fischer presents a comprehensive overview of global trade at the start of a new century from a national regional and international viewpoint. He looks closely at the four dominant and competing economic systems the United States the European Union Japan and China and argues that the traditional we win you lose national trade paradigm has been replaced by one that is more collaborative one that is leaning toward de facto world governance. He compares foreigners attitudes toward trade and markets with our own using four economic models that typify world trade today. He examines the interface between national regional and international trading systems and between business and government then at the prospect of global trade management in different trade sectors under the GATT WTO and other organizations. The result is a provocative discussion of global trade today. Professor Fischer makes it clear that the United States needs allies. Though its influence in the world trade arena will continue America's hegemony has ended. The European Union is America's most obvious ally but it has many problems and ambitions of its own. The North American Free Trade Agreement has solidified the North American market but it may isolate and lose South America while Japan China Russia and others are left to develop alliances of their own. All these factors raise important global questions among them Can American capitalism prevail Should the United States proceed unilaterally as it has so often Or are regional and multinational arrangements preferable If there is further globalization as seems inevitable and if American influence is on the wane what group or organization will lead To explore these questions and provide the beginnings of answers Professor Fischer uses his four competing economic systems and handicaps the process country by country sector by sector with particular attention to transatlantic relations The Commercial & Financial Chronicle and Hunt's Merchant's Magazine ,1890
