Marian Wardle,Sarah E. Boehme,2016-02-17 Artists and filmmakers in the early twentieth century reshaped our vision of the American West In particular the Taos Society of Artists and the California based artist Maynard Dixon departed from the legendary depiction of the Wild West and fostered new images or brands for western art This volume illustrated with more than 150 images examines select paintings and films to demonstrate how these artists both enhanced and contradicted earlier representations of the West Prior to this period American art tended to portray the West as a wild frontier with untamed lands and peoples Renowned artists such as Henry Farny and Frederic Remington set their work in the past invoking an environment immersed in conflict and violence This trademark perspective began to change however when artists enamored with the Southwest stamped a new imprint on their paintings The contributors to this volume illuminate the complex ways in which early twentieth century artists as well as filmmakers evoked a southwestern environment not just suspended in time but also permanent rather than transient Yet as the authors also reveal these artists were not entirely immune to the siren call of the vanishing West and their portrayal of peaceful yet exotic Native Americans was an expansion rather than a dismissal of earlier tropes Both brands cast a romantic spell on the West and both have been seared into public consciousness Branding the American West is published in association with the Brigham Young University Museum of Art Provo Utah and the Stark Museum of Art Orange Texas American Fiction, 1901-1925 Geoffrey D. Smith, 1997-08-13 A 1997 bibliography of American fiction from 1901 1925 A Western Legacy National Cowboy and Western Heritage Museum, 2005 Celebrates the fiftieth anniversary of this premier museum in Oklahoma City offering both an institutional history and a captivating collection of photographs representing its extensive holdings Simultaneous Remington and Russell Brian W. Dippie, 1994 From reviews of the first edition Richly illustrated this handsome volume presents the rugged beauty and rowdy spirit of life on the frontier as captured by two master painters Art Gallery International large color plates beautifully reproduce dashing romantic scenes of frontier life created by two of the West's foremost portrayers American West The many devotees of Remington and Russell and of Western art in general will want to add this handsome volume to their collection Arizona Highways the University of Texas Press as one would expect has produced a beautiful book Montana Since its original publication in 1982 Remington and Russell has become an essential introduction to the work of these artists and this revision substantially enhances the book's strengths Every painting in the Sid Richardson Collection has been rephotographed for this edition including one Russell and five Remington paintings not included previously Numerous black and white illustrations have also been added to give insight into the evolution of the paintings Brian Dippie has considerably amplified his commentaries on each painting with new information His revised introduction places Remington and Russell in the historical and cultural contexts of their time and draws intriguing comparisons between the two artists Iowa Artists of the First Hundred Years, 1939 Marc Simmons of New Mexico Phyllis S.
