Should You Read Shakespeare? Anne Waldron Neumann, 1999 The capacity of novels and popular culture to both delight and instruct is the starting point for this examination of a broad range of literature film and television Anne Waldron Neumann breaks down the artificial divide between high culture and popular culture Transatlantic Crossings Sarah Street, 2002-01-01 Transatlantic Crossings is the first major study of the distribution and exhibition of British films in the USA Charting the cross cultural reception of many British films Sarah Street draws on a wide range of sources including studio records film posters press books and statistics While the relative strength of Hollywood made it difficult for films that crossed the Atlantic Streets research demonstrates that some strategies were more successful than others She considers which British films made an impact and analyzes conditions that facilitated a positive reception from critics censors exhibitors and audiences Case studies include Nell Gwyn 1926 The Private Life of Henry VIII 1933 The Ghost Goes West 1935 Henry V 1946 Black Narcissus 1947 The Red Shoes 1948 Ealing comedies The Horror of Dracula 1958 Tom Jones 1963 A Hard Days Night 1964 Goldfinger 1964 The Remains of the Day 1993 Four Weddings and a Funeral 1994 and Trainspotting 1996 Against a background of the economic history of the British and Hollywood film industries Transatlantic Crossings considers the many fascinating questions surrounding the history of British films in the USA their relevance to wider issues of Anglo American relations and to notions of Britishness on screen No Uncertain Terms William Safire, 2004-06-02 Examines and provides comments on language trends while tracing the origins of timely words and phrases that discuss such topics as technology entertainment and everyday life English Tags Veronica Bonsignori, 2014-07-08 This book is a thorough quantitative and qualitative study of a typical phenomenon pertaining to the English spoken language namely question tags QTs and invariant tags More specifically English tags are analysed on the syntactic pragmatic and prosodic level taking into account cross varietal differences as well as both visual and auditory dimensions in order to get a more precise interpretation of their communicative functions This is made possible by examining film language since films being complex semiotic texts provide a more complete set of parameters for analysis especially in the case of QTs where intonation is crucial for their interpretation The study of their function is based not only on their formal properties but is integrated with the use of spectrograms which makes it possible to actually visualise the prosody of tags and to back up the results with material evidence Moreover tags are also examined from a translational perspective with analysis focusing on the transposition of tags in Italian dubbing a specific type of audiovisual translation for two main reasons firstly to check how and to what extent tags are rendered in Italian a language which does not have so structured a set of equivalent expressions and secondly to see how much space they are granted in a typically constrained translation like dubbing which is severely influenced by the visual dimension After this the use of the various translating options in Italian dubbing is studied in Italian original film language and compared with spontaneous conversation in both languages by analysing data in corpora of spontaneous speech both in English and

Italian to ascertain whether the use of tags and their Italian counterparts in film language is natural or artificial The present work is the first to study the syntactic and prosodic properties of English tags from an integrated pragmatic and translational perspective The study also qualifies as contrastive in that the use of these conversational routines is analysed in two different languages English and Italian as well as in different genres and varieties including film language dubbese and spontaneous speech
