Crawford, 1998-06-01 These memoirs are not an attempt to answer solve or resolve the problems arising from or about the three year long Korean War or the much longer stalemate that followed This story was written to let you know how one very young very scared marine saw his very first war and how he reacted to the killing and the mayhem of it The stories are my view of that war a war gone to ground in the trench lines Dig into the stories and you may find something you were not expecting I am well aware that my view of the Korean War has no historical importance Still it is my view and I want to share it with you I do not have a cause to plead or an ax to grind and that alone ought to count for something My memoirs are selective and most certainly tainted with time My recollections are a lot like boot mines and ought to be approached with caution I was a grunt a Four Deuce forward observer assigned to duty with a marine infantry company every time the 1st Marine Regiment went back up on line During the time I was in Korea my boondockers were firmly planted in trench line mud When I came home in September 1952 I was proud that I had helped in the attempt to stop Communism in Korea I was proud of all the men I served and served with and I was a little bit proud of myself too     Korean War, 1950-1953 , 1990

Eyewitness Korea James Goult, 2018-11-30 Today the Korean War of 1950-1953 is overshadowed by later twentieth century conflicts in Vietnam and the Middle East yet at the time it was the focus of international attention It threatened to lead to a third world war and although fought on a limited scale it still involved over a million men under UN command and even more on the Communist side It left the American and British troops who took part with a range of intense recollections that often marked them for the rest of their lives and it is these experiences that James Goult draws on in this eyewitness history of the conflict He uses official documents letters diaries regimental histories memoirs oral histories and correspondence to show what the war was like for those who took part Their accounts vividly contrast the American and British experience as seen through the eyes of individual servicemen and they throw fresh light on the relations between the UN forces on their different attitudes tactics training and equipment and on the tensions that developed between them
