

A person in a blue shirt and jeans stands on a dark, reflective surface, looking out at a futuristic city skyline. The skyline features a large, metallic, dome-shaped building on the right, a tall, thin, cat-shaped building in the center, and several other tall, thin buildings. The sky is blue with white clouds. The entire scene is reflected in the dark surface below.

The Future As History:

The Future as History Louis Heilbroner, 1959      The Future as History Robert Louis Heilbroner, 1968      The Future as History Robert L. Heilbroner, 1968      Ideas about the Future Burnham Putnam Beckwith, 1984 This book is the first history of scientific thought about future social events and trends covering the years 1794 to 1982 One of the best ways to prepare to make scientific predictions about the future is to review the predictions made by the most able and or stimulating earlier futurists and their reasons for making them Unfortunately these predictions are scattered among hundreds of different books and articles and no history of them has been available As a result most futurists have paid little attention to the brilliant contributions of their predecessors They rarely explain whether their own ideas are original in part or whole This book presents a pr cis of the thought of past futurists so that future futurists can understand and acknowledge the contributions of their intellectual ancestors      The Future as History, Etc Robert Louis HEILBRONER, 1968      "The Future as History;" James B. M. Schick, 1974      History of the Future Max Singer, 2011-07-16 History of the Future presents a set of ideas about where we are in history It focuses on the great majority of people in each society and shows that life in the modern world will be almost completely different from all previous human experience The present time is best understood as a period of transition during which one country after another is following along parallel paths from traditional to modern The process of becoming modern is so powerful that it will have similar effects on all countries Therefore one can predict the future of countries still undergoing this change by looking at the history of countries which have already completed their transition Singer asserts that a war system has long existed in which the central concern of nations has been to protect their security by military forces and alliances He makes the dramatic claim that because of the inherent nature of modern countries there will be no war system in any region populated solely by modern countries as illustrated by the current situation in Western Europe even though human character will not have improved However despite the fact that poverty tyranny and war will be largely eliminated the modern world may be worse for people than the traditional world because most of the things that shaped human character will be obsolete      Historical Essays Edward A. The History of the Future David A. Wilson, 2000 A wry look at the way in which people in the past imagined their own future      A Brief History of the Future Jacques Attali, 2011-07-01 What will planet Earth be like in twenty years At mid century In the year 2100 Prescient and convincing this book is a must read for anyone concerned about the future Never has the world offered more promise for the future and been more fraught with dangers Attali anticipates an unraveling of American hegemony as transnational corporations sever the ties linking free enterprise to democracy World tensions will be primed for horrific warfare for resources and dominance The ultimate question is Will we leave our children and grandchildren a world that is not only viable but better or in this nuclear world bequeath to them a planet that will be a living hell Either way he warns the time to act is now      The Green Hills of Earth and The Menace from Earth Robert A.
