The Lost Caravel Robert Langdon,1975 Theory that crew of Spanish ship San Lesmes lost in Pacific in 1526 played part in prehistory of Polynesia inc Tuamotu Society Is Austral Is Easter Is New Zealand     The Lost Caravel Robert Langdon,1975 Theory that crew of Spanish ship San Lesmes lost in Pacific in 1526 played part in prehistory of Polynesia inc Tuamotu Society Is Austral Is Easter Is New Zealand     The Quest for Origins K. R. Howe,2003-05-31 Did they come from space from Egypt from the Americas From other ancient civilizations These are some of today s most fanciful claims about the first settlers of the islands of the Pacific But none of them correctly answer the question Where did the Polynesians come from This book is a thoughtful and devastating critique of such new learning and a careful and accessible survey of modern archaeological anthropological genetic and linguistics findings about the origins of Pacific Islanders Professor Howe also examines the two hundred year old history of Western ideas about Polynesian origins in the context of ever changing fads and intellectual fashions     Making Peoples: A History of the New Zealanders From Polynesian James Belich,2007-05-07 A new paperback reprint of this best selling and ground breaking history When first published in 1996 Making Peoples was hailed as redefining New Zealand history It was undoubtedly the most important work of New Zealand history since Keith Sinclair s classic A History of New Zealand Making Peoples covers the period from first settlement to the end of the nineteenth century Part one covers Polynesian background Maori settlement and pre contact history Part two looks at Maori European relations to 1900 Part three discusses Pakeha colonisation and settlement James Belich s Making Peoples is a major work which reshapes our understanding of New Zealand history challenges traditional views and debunks many myths while also recognising the value of myths as historical forces Many of its assertions are new and controversial

European Perceptions of Terra Australis Alfred Hiatt,Christopher Wortham,2016-04-22 Terra Australis the southern land was one of the most widespread concepts in European geography from the sixteenth to the eighteenth centuries although the notion of a land mass in the southern seas had been prevalent since classical antiquity Despite this fact there has been relatively little sustained scholarly work on European concepts of Terra Australis or the intellectual background to European voyages of discovery and exploration to Australia in the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries Through interdisciplinary scholarly contributions ranging across history the visual arts literature and popular culture this volume considers the continuities and discontinuities between the imagined space of Terra Australis and its subsequent manifestation It will shed new light on familiar texts people and events such as the Dutch and French explorations of Australia the Batavia shipwreck and the Baudin expedition by setting them in unexpected contexts and alongside unfamiliar texts and people The book will be of interest to among others intellectual and cultural historians literary scholars historians of cartography the visual arts women s and post colonial studies     Making Peoples James Belich,2002-02-28 Now in paper This immensely readable book full of drama and humor as well as scholarship is a watershed in the writing of New Zealand history In making many new assertions and challenging many historical myths it seeks to reinterpret our approach to the past Given New Zealand's small population short history and great isolation the history of the archipelago has been saddled with a reputation for mundanity According to James Belich however it is just these characteristics that make New Zealand a historian's paradise a laboratory whose isolation size and recency is an advantage in which the grand themes of world history are often played out more rapidly more separately and therefore more discernably than elsewhere The first of two planned volumes Making Peoples begins with the Polynesian settlement and its development into the Maori tribes in the eleventh century It traces the great encounter between independent Maoridom and expanding Europe from 1642 to 1916 including the foundation of the Pakeha the neo Europeans of New Zealand between the 1830s and the 1880s It describes the forging of a neo Polynesia and a neo Britain and the traumatic interaction between them The author carefully examines the myths and realities that drove the colonialization process and suggests a new living version of one of the most critical and controversial documents in New Zealand's history the Treaty of Waitangi frequently described as New Zealand's Magna Carta The construction of peoples Maori and Pakeha is a recurring theme the response of each to the great shift from extractive to sustainable economics their relationship with their Hawaikis or ancestors with each other and with myth Essential reading for anyone interested in New Zealand history and in the history of new societies in general

Castaway in Paradise James C. Simmons, 1998 Castaway in Paradise explores the reality in the myth through the exciting stories of castaways who because of shipwrecks perfidious sea captains or their own choice found themselves true life Robinson Crusoes

Australia, New Zealand, and the Pacific Donald S. Garden, 2005-08-19 A fascinating study of the environmental history of Australia New Zealand and the islands of the Pacific from the time of the dinosaurs to the present day Of interest to students and academics alike this book provides a much needed synthesis of the recent literature on the environmental history of Australia and Oceania Part of ABC CLIO's Nature and Human Societies series this book maps out the key trends in the region's environmental history charting the creation of the Australian continent from the ancient land mass of Gondwanaland to the arrival of humans Especially fascinating are the chapters highlighting how successive waves of human migration created environmental havoc throughout the region leading to the collapse of the Easter Island civilization and the spread of nonindigenous flora and fauna From the controversies over the reasons why creatures such as the marsupial lion and the giant kangaroo became extinct to such contemporary problems as deforestation and global warming this book contains sobering lessons for us all
