My dear wife it is with great joy I take this time to let you know where I am now in safety in the 14th Regiment of Brooklyn this day i can tell you thank god as a free man I had a little trouble in getting away But as the Lord led the children of Israel to the land of Canaan so he led me
To a land where freedom will reign in spite Of earth and hell dear you must make your self content i am free from all the slaves task and as you have chose the wise plan of serving the Lord i hope you will pray for Hugh and i will try by the help of god to serve & him with all my heart I am with a very nice man and have all that heart can wish but as i dear I cant express my great desire that i have to see you i trust the time will come when we shall meet again And if we dont met on earth we will meet in heaven where Jesus names

Neo-slave Narratives Ashraf H. A. Rushdy,1999-11-04 NeoSlave Narratives is a study in the political social and cultural content of a given literary form the novel of slavery cast as a first person slave narrative After discerning the social and historical factors surrounding the first appearance of that literary form in the 1960s NeoSlave Narratives explores the complex relationship between nostalgia and critique while asking how African American intellectuals at different points between 1976 and 1990 remember and use the site of slavery to represent the crucial cultural debates that arose during the sixties Dear Master Randall M. Miller, 1990-10-01 Dear Master is a rare firsthand look at the values self perception and private life of the black American slave The fullest known record left by an American slave family this collection of more than two hundred letters including seven discovered since the book's original appearance reveals the relationship of two generations of the Skipwith family with the Virginia planter John Hartwell Cocke The letters dating from 1834 to 1865 fall into two groups The first were written by Peyton Skipwith and his children from Liberia where they settled after being freed in 1833 by Cocke a devout Christian and enlightened slaveholder The letters which tell of harsh frontier life reveal the American values the Skipwiths took with them to Africa and express their faith in Liberia's future and pride in their accomplishments The second group of letters written by George Skipwith and his daughter Lucy originate from Cocke's Alabama plantation an experimental work community to which Cocke sent his most talented responsible slaves to prepare them for the moral and educational challenges of emancipation George a privileged bondsman was a slave driver His letters about the management of the plantation include reports on the slaves conduct and any disciplinary actions he took Readers can sense George's pride in his work and also his ambivalence toward his role as leader in the slave hierarchy Lucy Cocke's chief domestic slave was the plantation nurse and teacher Her letters filled with details about spiritual familial and health matters also display her skill at exploiting her master's trust and her uncommon boldness for she spoke against whites to her master when she felt they hampered his slaves education Dear Master affirms that these slaves and former slaves were not simply victims they were actors in a complex human drama The letters imply trust and affection between master and slave but there were other motives as well for the letter writing The Liberian Skipwiths needed American made supplies moreover the whole family may have viewed their relationship with Cocke as a chance to help free other slaves In his new preface Miller reevaluates his book in light of changes in the historiography of American slavery over the past decade Antislavery Newspapers and Periodicals: Annotated index of letters in the Liberator, Anti-slavery record, Human rights, and the Observer, 1835-1865 John W.
