The Locked Room Michael E. Thomson,1995 Gossip, Letters, Phones Ned Schantz,2008-09-05 For over two hundred years of narrative culture when female characters try to get together crazy things happen Indeed the greater the means at women's disposal the more severe and twisted is the anxious reaction Behind this broad anxiety lurks the powerful ideal of sympathetic and strategic female networks an ideal that takes its intimate shape from the expectations of communications media and that underwrites the very culture that would deny it Ned Schantz examines novelistic culture from the British novel to Hollywood film as a series of responses to the threat and promise of female networks Reading texts from Clarissa Emma and The Portrait of a Lady to Sorry Wrong Number Vertigo and You've Got Mail Schantz argues that a recurring gothic nightmare haunts plots of courtship marriage and female advancement even as the female networks themselves illuminate the path to clarity And while this study must of necessity visit an uncanny realm of lost messages and false suitors telepathy and artificial intelligence locked rooms and time traveling stalkers these occult concerns only confirm the tangible material power at stake in the most basic modes of female communication in gossip letters and phones The Locked Room Maj Sjöwall,Per Wahlöö,1980 The Passive Eye Branka Arsic,2003 The Passive Eye is a revolutionary and historically rich account of Berkeley's theory of vision In this formidable work the author considers the theory of the embodied subject and its passions in light of a highly dynamic conception of infinity Arsic shows the profound affinities between Berkeley and Spinoza and offers a highly textual reading of Berkeley on the concept of an exhausted subjectivity The author begins by following the Renaissance universe of vision particularly the paradoxical elusive nature of mirrors then shows how this conception of vision was translated into the optical devices and in what way the various ways of deception could be conceived Reading Berkeley against the backdrop of competing theories in relation to Leibniz Spinoza Newton Malebranche Hume Locke Molyneux and others this book gives a meticulous historic reconstruction of Berkeley's theory This excellent scholarly work presents Berkeley's theory in a new and radical light The book presented in three parts begins by presenting the conceptions of vision prior to Berkeley's intervention In the second part the author moves through a careful study of Descartes theory of vision to arrive at Berkeley The third part addresses the author's version of Berkeley in which the eye and the image become inseparable due to the collapse of the universe of representation The problem of vision becomes not that of representation but of presentation Through an erudite historic reading of Berkeley's theory and astute comparative assessments the author uncovers Berkeley's place as a contemporary theoretician corresponding with such thinkers as Deleuze Lacan Foucault and Derrida The locked room Mabel Collins,1920 Realism's Others Eva Aldea,Geoffrey Baker,2010-07-12 For at least a century scholarship on realist narrative and occasional polemics against realist narrative have assumed that realism promotes the values of sameness against those of otherness and that it does so by use of a narrative mode that excludes certain epistemologies ideologies and ways of thinking However the truth is more complex than that as the essays in this volume all demonstrate Realism's Others examines the various strategies by which realist narratives create the idea of difference whether that difference is registered in terms of class ethnicity epistemology nationality or gender The authors in this collection examine in detail not just the fact of otherness in some canonical realist and canonical magical realist and postmodern novels but the actual means by which that otherness is established by the text These essays suggest that neither realist narrative nor narratives positioned as anti realist take otherness for granted rather the texts discussed here actively create difference and this creation of difference often occasions severe difficulties for the novels representational schema How does one represent different types of knowledge other aesthetic modes or other spaces for example in texts whose epistemology has long been seen as secular and empirical whose aesthetic mode has always been approached as pure descriptive mimesis and whose settings are largely domestic These essays all begin with a certain collision of nationalities of classes of representational matrices of religions and go on to chart the challenges that this collision presents to our ideas or stereotypes of realism or to the possibilities of writing against and beyond realism. This question motivates examination of key realist or social realist texts in some of these essays by Honor de Balzac, George Eliot, Franz Grillparzer, Theodor Storm, Gottfried Keller, Theodor Fontane, Wilhelm Raabe, Mar a Amparo Ruiz de Burton, Henry James, William Dean Howells, Charles Chesnutt, Theodore Dreiser, H. T. Tsiang, Alan Sillitoe and Richard Yates. However, it is no less central a question in certain non realist texts which engage realist aims to a surprising degree often to debate them openly. Some of these essays discuss in this light fantastic, magical realist and postmodern works by Abram Tertz, Paul Auster, Alejo Carpentier, Toni Morrison, Gabriel García Márquez, Salman Rushdie and A. S. Byatt. Realism becomes more than an aesthetic aim or narrative mode. It becomes rather a value evoked and discussed by all of the works analyzed here in order to reveal its impact on fiction's treatment of ethnicity, nationality, ideology, space, gender and social class.
