Jewish and Christian Scripture as Artifact and Canon Craig A. Evans, H. Daniel Zacharias, 2011-10-27 Jewish and Christian Scripture as Artifact and Canon constitutes a collection of studies that reflect and contribute to the growing scholarly interest in manuscripts as artifacts and witnesses to early stages in Jewish and Christian understanding of sacred scripture. Scholars and textual critics have in recent years rightly recognized the contribution that ancient manuscripts make to our understanding of the development of canon in its broadest and most inclusive sense. The studies included in this volume shed significant light on the most important questions touching the emergence of canon consciousness and written communication in the early centuries of the Christian church. The concern here is not in recovering a theoretical original text or early recognized canon but in analysis of and appreciation for texts as they actually circulated and were preserved through time. Some of the essays in this collection explore the interface between canon as theological concept on the one hand and canon as reflected in the physical artifactual evidence on the other. Other essays explore what the artifacts tell us about life and belief in early communities of faith. Still other studies investigate the visual dimension and artistic expressions of faith including theology and biblical interpretation communicated through the medium of art and icon in manuscripts. The volume also includes scientific studies concerned with the physical properties of particular manuscripts. These studies will stimulate new discussion in this important area of research and will point students and scholars in new directions for future work.

The Pound Biennial Anderson Araujo, Ron Bush, 2025-04-11 The Ezra Pound Studies Biennial claims a place as the flagship journal entirely devoted to Pound's work at a time when Pound studies represents one of the most active fields in modernist scholarship. Elaborating on the life work and international reception of one of the prime movers of the modernist revolution in the arts and letters, this inaugural volume joins an ever increasing number of studies examining Pound's letters, prose, poetry, translations, companions, and international reception, and taking the form of critical essays, editions, digital projects, and monographs. Building on this work, the current volume features twelve high caliber contributions written by a diverse group of established and emerging Pound scholars. Their subjects include the genesis of Pound's Pisan Cantos, the poet's political and economic preoccupations, his association with modernist women writers, his fascination with typography and with the Italian Renaissance, and his translations of Noh plays and French poetry.

Reconnecting Aestheticism and Modernism Bénédicte Coste, Catherine Delyfer, Christine Reynier, 2016-10-04 Charting the period that extends from the 1860s to the 1940s, this volume offers fresh perspectives on Aestheticism and Modernism. By acknowledging that both movements had a passion for the new, it goes beyond the alleged divide between Modernism and its predecessors. Rather than reading the modernist credo 'Make it New' as a desire to break away from the past, the authors of this book suggest reading it as a continuation and a reappropriation of the spirit of the New that characterizes Aestheticism. Basing their arguments on recent reassessments of Aestheticism and Modernism and their articulation contributors take up the challenge of interrogating the connections continuities and intersections between the two movements thus revealing the working processes of cultural and aesthetic change so as to reassess the value of the new for each Attending to well known writers such as Waugh Woolf Richardson Eliot Pound Ford Symons Wilde and Hopkins as well as to hitherto neglected figures such as Lucas Malet L S Gibbon Leonard Woolf or George Egerton they revise assumptions about Aestheticism and Modernism and their very definitions This collection brings together international scholars specializing in Aestheticism or Modernism who push their analyses beyond their strict period of expertise and take both movements into account through exciting approaches that borrow from aesthetics philosophy or economics The volume proposes a corrective to the traditional narratives of the history of Aestheticism and Modernism revitalizing definitions of these movements and revealing new directions in aestheticist and modernist studies

Textual Scholarship and the Material Book Wim Van Mierlo, 2007 In the last decades the emphasis in textual scholarship has moved onto creation production process collaboration onto the material manifestations of a work onto multiple rather than single versions onto reception and book history Textual scholarship now includes not only textual editing but any form of scholarship that looks at the materiality of text of writing of reading and of the book The essays in this collection explore many questions about methodology and theory arising from this widening scope of textual scholarship The range of texts discussed from Sanskrit epic via Medieval Latin commentary through English and Scottish Ballads to the plays of Samuel Beckett and the stories of Guimarães Rosa testifies to the vigour of the discipline The range of texts is matched by a range of approach from theoretical discussion of how text happens to analysis of issues of book design and censorship the connections between literary and textual studies exploration of the links between reception and commodification in George Eliot and between information theory and paratext Through this diversity of subject and approach a common theme emerges the need to look further for common ground from which to continue the debate from a comparative perspective

Kabbalistic Manuscripts and Textual Theory Daniel Abrams, 2010 Kabbalistic Manuscripts and Textual Theory uncovers the unstated assumptions and expectations of scribes and scholars who fashioned editions from manuscripts of Jewish mystical literature This study offers a theory of kabbalistic textuality in which the material book the printed page no less than handwritten manuscripts serves as the site for textual dialogue between Jewish mystics of different periods and locations The refashioning of the text through the process of reading and commenting that takes place on the page in the margins and between the lines blurs the boundaries between the traditionally defined roles of author reader commentator and editor This study shows that kabbalists and academic editors reinvented the text in their own image as part of a fluid textual process that was nothing short of transformative This book is certainly monumental offering in its seven hundred pages a wealth of documentation and distilled argument that manages to be both comprehensive in its materials and transparent in its critical insights It is rare indeed that a work of such formidable scholarship can actually be a pleasure to read and convincing in its elucidation of what are often extremely complex documentary circumstances and editorial traditions From the foreword by David Greetham Viator,2013 Border Texts Randall Bass,1999 Antanas Baranauskas Paulius Subačius,2010 Zsfassung in engl und poln Sprache Literature and Artifacts George Thomas Tanselle,1998 The fifteen essays collected here form a series of variations on a theme exploring the interconnections between verbal works and the physical objects primarily manuscripts and printed books that transmit them Verbal works may be intangible but they generally come to us tied to objects and the study of such works therefore cannot be separated from the study of artifacts The aim of this book is to examine the theory that underlies this observation and the practical implications that follow from it The Prehistoric Archaeology of Settlement in South-East Wales and the Borders Graham A.
