Modern flavours and fragrances are complex formulated products containing blends of aroma compounds with auxiliary materials enabling desirable flavours or fragrances to be added to a huge range of products. The flavour and fragrance industry is a key part of the worldwide specialty chemicals industry yet most technical recruits have minimal exposure to flavours and fragrances before recruitment. The analytical chemistry of flavour and fragrance materials presents specific challenges to the analytical chemist as most of the chemicals involved are highly volatile, present in very small amounts and in complex mixtures. Analytical Methods for Flavor and Fragrance Materials covers the most important methods in the analysis of flavour and fragrance materials including traditional and newly emerging methodologies. It discusses the capabilities of the various analytical methods for flavour and fragrance analysis and guides the newcomer to the most appropriate techniques for specific analytical problems.

Aroma Active Compounds in Foods Gary R. Takeoka, American Chemical Society. Meeting, 2001. This book examines the analytical and sensory characterization of important flavor constituents, the formation and synthesis of key aroma compounds and the chemistry of specific food products including wine, fermented meat, rice, soymilk, tomatillo, peppermint and asafoetida.

Flavour Development, Analysis and Perception in Food and Beverages J. K. Parker, Stephen Elmore, Lisa Methven, 2014-11-19. Flavour is a critical aspect of food production and processing requiring careful design, monitoring and testing in order to create an appealing food product. This book looks at flavour generation, flavour analysis and sensory perception of food flavour and how these techniques can be used in the food industry to create new and improve existing products. Part one covers established and emerging methods of characterising and analysing taste and aroma compounds. Part two looks at different factors in the generation of aroma. Finally, part three focuses on sensory analysis of food flavour. Covers the analysis and characterisation of aromas and taste compounds. Examines how aromas can be created and predicted. Reviews how different flavours are perceived.

Flavor, Fragrance, and Odor Analysis, Second Edition Ray Marsili, 2011-12-21. There are many advantages to stir bar sorptive extraction (SBSE) for isolating and concentrating flavor active chemicals from foods including its simplicity and wide application appeal. Written from a practical problem solving perspective, the second edition of Flavor, Fragrance and Odor Analysis highlights this powerful technique and emphasizes the range of applications available. Topics discussed include Sequential SBSE, a novel extraction procedure; A simplified method for switching from one dimensional to two dimensional GC/MS; How analytical sensitivity and recovery of phenolic compounds can be improved using aqueous acylation prior to SBSE; GC/MS Analyzing and combating off flavors caused by metabolites from microorganisms; A technique for measuring synergy effects between odorants; The identification of the characterizing aroma active compounds of tropical fruits with high economic potential; The parameters utilized during the production of aqueous formulations rich in pyrazines; How spectral deconvolution can be used to speciate the subtle differences in essential oil content and track key ingredients through the manufacturing process; The final chapter summarizes chemical identities of characterizing aroma chemicals in fruits, vegetables, nuts, herbs and spices.
