Stevenson, 2017-04-12 The Beach at Fales is a scathing critique of colonialism and economic imperialism that bravely takes on many of the 19th Century's strongest taboos miscegenation imperialism and economic exploitation It does so with a story that features a surprising and beguiling romance between an adventurous British trader and a young island girl against a background of increasing and mysterious hostility Are the native islanders plotting against the couple or is it the other white traders The result is a denouement that is astonishing in its violence Told in the unadorned voice of the trader it is a story that deftly combines the form of the exotic adventure yarn with the moral and psychological questing of great fiction

Cruising with Robert Louis Stevenson Oliver S. Buckton, 2007 Cruising with Robert Louis Stevenson Travel Narrative and the Colonial Body is the first book length study about the influence of travel on Robert Louis Stevenson's writings both fiction and nonfiction Within the contexts of late Victorian imperialism and ethnographic discourse the book offers original close readings of individual works by Stevenson while bringing new theoretical insights to bear on the relationship between travel authorship and gender identity in the Victorian fin de siècle Oliver S Buckton develops cruising as a critical term linking Stevenson's leisurely mode of travel with the striking narrative motifs of disruption and fragmentation that characterize his writings Buckton traces the development of Stevenson's career from his early travel books to show how Stevenson's major works of fiction such as Treasure Island, Kidnapped and The Ebb Tide draw on innovative techniques and materials Stevenson acquired in the course of his global travels. Exploring Stevenson's pivotal role in the revival of romance in the late nineteenth century, Cruising with Robert Louis Stevenson highlights Stevenson's treatment of the human body as part of his resistance to realism, arguing that the energies and desires released by travel are often routed through disturbingly resistant or darkly comic corporeal figures. Buckton gives extensive attention to Stevenson's writing about the South Seas, arguing that his groundbreaking critiques of European colonialism are formed in awareness of the fragility and desirability of Polynesian bodies and island landscapes. Cruising with Robert Louis Stevenson will be indispensable to all admirers of Stevenson as well as of great interest to readers of travel writing, Victorian ethnography, gender studies and literary criticism.

Beach of Falesa Robert Louis Stevenson, 2000 The South Pacific Narratives of Robert Louis Stevenson and Jack London Lawrence Phillips, 2012-09-27 A study tracing issues of race, class and imperialism in the South Pacific through the work of Robert Louis Stevenson and Jack London

Modern Print Artefacts Patrick Collier, 2016-09-20 This study focuses on the close connections between literary value and the materiality of popular print artefacts in Britain from 1890-1930. The book demonstrates that the materiality of print objects—paper quality, typography, spatial layout, use of illustrations etc.—became uniquely visible and significant in these years as a result of a widely perceived crisis in literary valuation. In a set of case studies, it analyses the relations between literary value, meaning and textual materiality in print artefacts such as newspapers, magazines and book genres, artefacts that gave form to both literary works and the journalistic content: critical essays, book reviews, celebrity profiles and advertising, through which conflicting conceptions of literature took shape. In the process, it corrects two available misperceptions about reading in the period: that books were the default mode of reading and that experimental modernism was the sole literary aesthetic that could usefully represent modern life.

The Beach of Falesa Robert Louis Stevenson, 2021 The Beach of Falesá (Classic Reprint) Dylan Thomas, 2018-01-31 Excerpt from The Beach of Fales: Now it is nearer dawn and the moon still bright lowering towards the glassy quivering western rim of the South Sea. To the east the great sky about to dawn is cloudless. And out of darkness into dying moonlight into rising dawn the boat glides again. A bird circles above it and wheels crying sad and high then lies away. The boat is a fore and aft schooner of about a hundred tons. Two dark figures stand on the little deck looking out into the neither night nor morning. The tall broad bareheaded figure Wiltshire his hair tossed in the wind stands still upright tense and quiet. The short figure the Captain at the wheel raises an arm to point.
