Story Of The Fens:

The Story of the Fens Valerie Gerrard,2003 Once known as the drowned lands the Fens have been transformed from a flooded area with only small islands habitable throughout the year into one of the most productive and fertile regions of the country Deeply attached to the Fens Valerie Gerrard weaves an intricate tapestry of the history and people of the area A part of the Fens Since Roman times man has increased the land mass in this area by one third of the size It is the largest plain in the British Isles covering an area of nearly three quarters of a million acres and is unique to the UK The fen people know the area as marsh land reclaimed from the sea and fen land drained from flooding rivers running from the uplands The Fens are unique in having more miles of navigable waterways than anywhere else in the UK Mammoth drainage schemes in the seventeenth and eighteenth changed the landscape forever leading slowly but surely to the area so loved today Insightful entertaining and full of rich incident here is the fascinating story of the Fens A History of the Fens James Wentworth Day,1954

Spirit of the Fens Edward Storey,1985 Spirit of the Fens is a summation of though one hopes not the very last word upon a lifelong acquaintance with the Fens by a man who loves them dearly could have wished for such a guide as Mr Storey during my Fenland explorations but then the best guides are as companionable after as during the journey From the Foreword by Graham Swift author of Waterland Spirit of the Fens is Edward Storey s most penetrating study so far of this part of England Through the experiences and recollections of others together with his own reflections and opinions on a subject which has concerned him ever since he became a writer he has created an authentic picture of life in the Cambridgeshire and Lincolnshire Fens This is a book which not only combines geography history and topography but also one which preserves the thoughts and feelings of people who have lived in the Fens many of them for more than eighty years As Storey says in his introduction A landscape records also the events and actions of the people who have helped to make it what it is There is a certain spirit about a place which makes it different from all other places which gives it an identity and in turn draws from its local inhabitants a loyalty which is hard to define The place and the people belong to each other and in most cases are inseparable This delightful collection of essays reflections and interviews makes an unusual and important contribution to the literature of East Anglia Village Life in the Fens, Or, Old Age Pensions and "back to the Land" Frederic John Gardiner,1908 A History of the Fens James Wentworth Day,1954 The Fens Alan Bloom,1953

Postmodernism and Notions of National Difference Geoffrey Lord,2024-08-26 Postmodernism and Notions of National

Difference examines the critical construction of postmodern fiction raising the question of whether the construction of postmodernism has sufficiently accounted for national difference Geoffrey Lord argues that current meta national conceptions of postmodernism need serious reconsideration to take national cultural contexts into account Through a comparative investigation of the theoretical debate literary traditions and close textual reading of a number of postmodern texts Lord makes a persuasive case for his broad claim that national cultural differences are more persistent and powerful than usually allowed by established theories of postmodernity which claim a general collapse of traditional cultural orders and the meta narratives that justify them From Punt to Plough Rex Sly,2003-09-18 A superb examination of the history of the Fens containing a great deal of stunning photographs The Little Book of Cambridgeshire Caroline Clifford,Alan Akeroyd,2018-11-12 The Little Book of Cambridgeshire is a compendium full of information which will make you say I never knew that Contained within is a plethora of entertaining stories about the county and its famous and occasionally infamous men and women its literary artistic and sporting achievements its customs and traditions its transport and leisure and a few ghostly appearances Compiled by two knowledgeable local historians this is a reliable reference book and a quirky guide this can be dipped in to time and time again to reveal something new about the people the heritage the secrets and the enduring fascination of the county The Book of British Topography John Parker Anderson,1881 The Bookseller and the Stationery Trades' Journal ,1887 Official organ of the book trade of the United Kingdom Literature and The Contemporary Roger Luckhurst,Peter Marks,2014-07-22 At the end of the century much criticism has become devoted to last things the end of history the end of the subject the end of the novel the end even of the end Literature and the Contemporary in contrast aims to provide through twelve essays evidence of the way in which the literature of the 1990s is constantly engaging in questions of memory and history and the representation of time in the present day The essays in the book survey theories of temporality from various cultural and philosophical standpoints and represent critics writing from feminist postcolonial and queer perspectives discussing literature in our time The collection addresses such central issues as the politics of memory colonial legacies women s time racial and sexual identities in the 1990s and covers a wide range of contemporary authors works and issues some of which are treated for the first time Among the contemporary works discussed are the prize winning books Graham Swift s Last Orders Anne Michaels Fugitive Pieces and Jane Smiley s A Thousand Acres While discussing some of the most significant novels of the 1990s this collection also offers a diverse yet cohesive critique of the millennial leanings of much postmodernist criticism which it argues should be replaced by more variously nuanced engagements with literature and the contemporary The Every Day Book, Or, A Guide to the Year William Hone,1889 The Fens Francis Pryor,2019-07-11 A BBC Radio 4 Book of the Week Francis Pryor brings the magic of the Fens to life in a deeply personal and utterly enthralling way TONY ROBINSON Pryor feels the land rather than simply knowing it GUARDIAN Inland from the Wash on England s eastern cost crisscrossed by substantial rivers and punctuated by soaring church spires are the low lying marshy and mysterious Fens Formed by marine and freshwater flooding and historically wealthy owing to the fertility of their soils the Fens of Lincolnshire and Cambridgeshire are one of the most distinctive neglected and extraordinary regions of England Francis Pryor has the most intimate of connections with this landscape For some forty years he has dug its soils as a working archaeologist making ground breaking discoveries about the nature of prehistoric settlement in the area and raising sheep in the flower growing country between Spalding and Wisbech In The Fens he counterpoints the history of the Fenland landscape and its transformation from Bronze age field systems to Iron Age hillforts from the rise of prosperous towns such as King s Lynn Ely and Cambridge to the ambitious drainage projects that created the Old and New Bedford Rivers with the story of his own discovery of it as an archaeologist Affectionate richly informative and deftly executed The Fens weaves together strands of archaeology history and personal experience into a satisfying narrative portrait of a complex and threatened landscape
