Strangers In The Forest:

Kings of the Forest Jana Fortier,2009-04-30 In today's world hunter gatherer societies struggle with seemingly insurmountable problems deforestation and encroachment language loss political domination by surrounding communities Will they manage to survive This book is about one such society living in the monsoon rainforests of western Nepal the Raute Kings of the Forest explores how this elusive ethnic group the last hunter gatherers of the Himalayas maintains its traditional way of life amidst increasing pressure to assimilate Author Jana Fortier examines Raute social strategies of survival as they roam the lower Himalayas gathering wild yams and hunting monkeys Hunting is part of a symbiotic relationship with local Hindu farmers who find their livelihoods threatened by the monkeys raids on their crops Raute hunting helps the Hindus who consider the monkeys sacred and are reluctant to kill the animals themselves Fortier explores Raute beliefs about living in the forest and the central importance of foraging in their lives She discusses Raute identity formation nomadism trade relations and religious beliefs all of which turn on the foragers belief in the moral goodness of their unique way of life The book concludes with a review of issues that have long been important to anthropologists among them biocultural diversity and the shift from an evolutionary focus on the ideal hunter gatherer to an interest in hunter gatherer diversity Kings of the Forest will be welcomed by readers of anthropology Asian studies environmental studies ecology cultural geography and ethnic studies It will also be eagerly read by those who recognize the critical importance of preserving and understanding the connections between biological and cultural diversity

Rural Resources and Local Livelihoods in Africa NA

NA,2016-09-27 Top scholars examine issues which lead readers to better understand environmental change in the African continent and its effects on rural African livelihoods Each of the studies in this book concerns four main issues conservation biodiversity and environment land use and livelihoods environmental change and policies for conservation and development The volume looks closely at the details of rural resource use access and control the social institutions which shape this and the effects on African environments It is not possible to understand livelihoods in Africa a central issue for all social and economic questions without grasping the interplay between environmental change and the sustainability of rural livelihoods The volume is groundbreaking in its detailed examination of this interplay and its importance in grasping the roots of poverty and potential for its alleviation and for its unique combination of natural and social science methods

Rainforest Relations Melissa Leach,2021-06-24 With environmental change and conservation in West Africa's tropical rainforests becoming topics of increasing political and academic interest this book brings a fresh set of perspectives to the debate those of the forest dwellers themselves Based on her detailed field research in the Mende communities around Gola North Forest reserve and surveying the recent debates and literature concerning forest conservations and current analytical approaches to gender and the environment Melissa Leach examines the importance of rainforest resources to the local economy and social relations and shows that neither an understanding of forest use and change nor adequate conservation policies can be achieved without a concern for gender Strangers in the Forest & Other Stories R. Lisa, Sarada Nair, Vimala Kumar, 2005 Living Beings Penelope Dransart, 2020-06-03

Living Beings examines the vital characteristics of social interactions between living beings including humans other animals and trees. Many discussions of such relationships highlight the exceptional qualities of the human members of the category insisting for instance on their religious beliefs or creativity. In contrast the international case studies in this volume dissect views based on hierarchical oppositions between human and other living beings. Although human practices may sometimes appear to exist in a realm beyond nature they are nevertheless subject to the pull of natural forces. These forces may be brought into prominence through a consideration of the interactions between human beings and other inhabitants of the natural world. The interplay in this book between social anthropologists, philosophers and artists cuts across species divisions to examine the experiential dimensions of interspecies engagements. In ethnographically and or historically contextualized chapters contributors examine the juxtaposition of human and other living beings in the light of themes such as wildlife safaris violence difference mimicry simulation spiritual renewal dress and language The Ladies' Repository, 1874

The idea of this women's magazine originated with Samuel Williams a Cincinnati Methodist who thought that Christian women needed a magazine less worldly than Godey's Lady's Book and Snowden's Lady's Companion. Written largely by ministers this exceptionally well printed little magazine contained well written essays of a moral character, plenty of poetry, articles on historical and scientific matters and book reviews. Among western writers were Alice Cary who contributed over a hundred sketches and poems her sister Phoebe Cary, Otway Curry, Moncure D Conway and Joshua R Giddings and New England contributors included Mrs Lydia Sigourney, Hannah F Gould and Julia C R Dorr. By 1851 each issue published a piece of music and two steel plates usually landscapes or portraits. When Davis E Clark took over the editorship in 1853 the magazine became brighter and attained a circulation of 40 000. Unlike his predecessors Clark included fictional pieces and made the Repository a magazine for the whole family. After the war it began to decline and in 1876 was replaced by the National Repository. The Ladies Repository was an excellent representative of the Methodist mind and heart. Its essays, sketches and poems, its good steel engravings and its moral tone gave it a charm all its own. Karolienka Kapp is a child of the forest born into a community of woodcutters. She is given the advantage of a good education but it serves only to heighten her growing realisation that because of the harsh injustices of poverty there is little hope for the woodcutters. The day after her marriage to Johannes himself of woodcutter stock she realises that she has made the wrong choice. She may have escaped from the poverty of the forest but she has exchanged her freedom for a cage. Alone and afraid she leaves her husband and takes the road back to the forest.
