Sport Identity In The North Of England:

Sport, Media and Regional Identity Simon Roberts, 2015-11-25 The increasing potency of identity politics across Europe often sees sport acting as a vehicle for the promotion and celebration of regional and sub national identities However while the relationship between sport the media and national identity has featured in numerous academic and political debates in recent years the links between sports media and regional identity have received little attention This seems a curious oversight because the links between sport and region frequently become a celebration of the local and the distinctive emblematic of community and continuity This volume will explore that sense of the counter hegemonic where sport is celebrated by a media often keen to promote notions of difference which might verge on rebellion in some contexts conceived as resisting global homogeneity or national hegemony At other times they may merely reflect a commercial nose for the local audience s tastes but there is always the sense of preserving something important a celebration of the diversity that makes us human This book considers the centrality and cultural significance of particular sports or clubs to regional and sub national identities across Europe and beyond adopting a comparative approach to the mediatized nature of such portrayals

Sport and English National Identity in a 'Disunited Kingdom' Tom Gibbons, Dominic Malcolm, 2017-02-17 Given sport s centrality in English society what role does it play in symbolising contemporary English national identity This comprehensive study explores the complex set of relationships between sport and what it means to be English in the twenty first century The bond between sport and nationalism has long been recognised but with increasingly vociferous separatist nationalisms threatening the dismantling of the United Kingdom a closer analysis is timely Part one addresses key debates regarding English national identity within the specific sporting contexts of association football cricket tennis cycling and rugby Part two discusses the complex relationship between religion sport and English national identity as well as the attitudes and experiences of traditionally marginalized groups including women minority ethnic groups and disabled people Part three considers the perspectives of the other UK nations on the link between sport and English national identity Sport and English National Identity in a Disunited Kingdom is fascinating reading for all those with an interest in the sociology politics and history of sport and the study of nations nationalism and national identity

A Sport-loving Society J. A. Mangan, 2006 A selection of essays exploring the role of social institutions and political economic and technological change in shaping the sport of middle class Victorians and Edwardians

Northern Identities Neville Kirk, 2017-03-02 Recent years have witnessed an explosion of academic and popular interest in the issue of social identity Yet the subject areas of regional and sub regional identities and historical engagements between the regional the local and the national remain very neglected Seeking to make a contribution towards redressing these areas of neglect and to further advancing our knowledge and understanding of the general issue of social identity this volume of essays offers the reader an exploration of some of the rich and varied historical interpretations of the North and Northernness The focus rests mainly but not exclusively upon the

North of England Taken as a whole the essays highlight the contingent fluid and ambiguous nature of Northernness its complex and shifting interplay with feelings of localism and nationalism and the profound if varying influences of class race gender sport tourism music and political and economic structures and concerns upon northern identities This book will hold a general appeal to readers interested in the issue of social identity especially in its regional and local manifestations and engagements It will find a wide readership across the humanities and social sciences It should be compulsory reading for those in New Labour addressing the issue of the North South divide Local Identity and Sport Hideaki Ôkubo,2004
