Southeast Asians:

Ethnic Chinese as Southeast Asians Leo Suryadinata, 1997 More than 80 per cent of the Chinese outside China live in Southeast Asia and many of them have been integrated into the local societies. However the resurgence of China and ethnic Chinese investment in their ancestral land have caused concern among some non-Chinese Southeast Asian elites. They have begun to question the position and identity of the Chinese population in their countries. Ethnic Chinese as Southeast Asians addresses these ethnic Chinese issues as well as ethnic Chinese relations with China and with indigenous groups in the region. Written by leading scholars in Southeast Asia including both ethnic Chinese and non-Chinese the volume also explores the position of the ethnic Chinese in contemporary as well as the future Southeast Asia providing readers with a most up to date and comprehensive study on the subject.

Southeast Asia in World History Craig Lockard, 2009-04-24 Here is a brief well written and lively survey of the history of Southeast Asia from ancient times to the present paying particular attention to the region's role in world history and the distinctive societies that arose in lands shaped by green fields and forests blue rivers and seas. Craig Lockard shows how for several millennia Southeast Asians living at the crossroads of Asia enjoyed ever expanding connections to both China and India and later developed maritime trading networks to the Middle East and Europe. He explores how the people of the region combined local and imported ideas to form unique cultures reflected in such striking creations as Malay sailing craft Javanese gamelan music and batik cloth classical Burmese and Cambodian architecture and social structures in which women have often played unusually influential roles. Lockard describes colonization by Europeans and Americans between 1500 and 1914 tracing how the social economic and political frameworks inherited from the past combined with active opposition to domination by foreign powers enabled Southeast Asians to overcome many challenges and regain their independence after World War II. The book also relates how Malaysia Singapore Thailand Indonesia and Vietnam are now among the fastest growing economies in the world and play a critical role in today's global marketplace.

Understanding the Ethnic Chinese in Southeast Asia Leo Suryadinata, 2007 About 80 percent of the ethnic Chinese outside China live in Southeast Asia. This book examines that community in the context of both national and international dimensions.

Southeast Asian Culture and Heritage in a Globalising World Rahil Ismail, 2016-04-01 Southeast Asia has in recent years become a crossroads of cultures with high levels of ethnic pluralism not only between countries sub-regions and urban areas but also at the local levels of community and neighbourhood. Illustrated by a series of international case studies this book demonstrates how the forces of post-colonialism in their various manifestations are accelerating social change and creating new and imagined communities some of which are potentially disruptive and which may well threaten the longer term sustainability of the region. Interdisciplinary in approach this book brings together geographers historians anthropologists architects education specialists planners and sociologists to make connections and new insights and to provide a truly comprehensive view of heritage culture and identity in this dynamic talk about a single Chinese identity when identity can be determined by the different political social economic or religious circumstances an individual faces at any given time One of the distinctive characteristics of all the essays in this volume is that they are written from an historical perspective While the papers focus on how recent developments in Southeast Asian society have shaped Chinese identity they also discuss those changes in terms of the historical matrix from which they developed Because many of the essays in this volume combine an historical overview with more recent statistical data it should serve as a useful companion to the increasingly popular case studies in which much of the writing about the Chinese in Southeast Asia is now cast Southeast Asian Diaspora in the United States Jonathan H. East & Southeast Asia University of Wisconsin--Madison. Land Tenure Center. Library,1971 Regionalism in Southeast Asia Nicholas Tarling,2006-09-27 Regionalism in Southeast Asia provides the reader with an historical analysis of Southeast Asia from the distinct perspective of regionalism Southeast Asian history is usually written from a national point of view which underplays the links between neighbouring states and nations and the effects of these bonds on the development of regionalism This innovative book begins by defining the meaning of region and regionalism and then applies it to periods in history in Southeast Asia looking at how patterns of regionalism have shifted through time to the present day By focusing on the regional perspective Nicholas Tarling gives an original treatment of Southeast Asian history its political dynamics and its international realtions Regionalism in Southeast Asia completes a trilogy of books on Southeast Asia by Nicholas Tarling published by Routledge the other two are Nationalism in Southeast Asia and Imperialism in Southeast Asia The Chinese in Southeast Asia and Beyond Ching-Hwang Yen,2008 The Chinese in Southeast Asia with their growing economic clout have been attracting attention from politicians scholars and observers in recent decades The rise of China as a global economic power and its profound influence over Southeast Asia has cast a spotlight on the role of Southeast Asian Chinese in the region s economic relations with China The Southeast Asian Chinese as an economic force and their growing importance with China are to a certain extent determined by the nature and development of their communities This book uses a multifaceted approach to unravel the forces that helped to transform the communities in the past Containing 17 papers written within a span of six and a half years from 2000 to 2006 the book focuses on the social economic and political aspects of these communities with special emphasis on the Chinese in Malaysia and Singapore Nature and Life in Southeast Asia Tatsuo Kira,Tadao Umessao,Keiji Iwata,Riozo Yosii,1961 Decentring and Diversifying Southeast Asian Studies Goh Beng Lan,2011 This admirable book contains fascinating autobiographical accounts by some of Southeast Asia s most eminent scholars concerning their struggle to find their own voices in interpreting the region to which they belong The book should be indispensable to anyone interested in thinking about knowledge production and its politics in a postcolonial world In the views of these scholarly Southeast Asians we are made to see in very personal terms the link between the global crisis in the social sciences and the need to find remedies for it that are neither Eurocentric nor parochially anti Western Professor Alexander Woodside Professor of Chinese and Southeast Asian History University of British Columbia Vancouver Canada This book marks the shift of the centre of Southeast Asian Studies from the West to Southeast Asia The insights provided by the authors are not simply explanations of colonial and postcolonial experiences of major Southeast Asian scholars Rather the book provides a unique set of intellectual genealogies that show that distinctions between humanities and social sciences are less important than the development of distinctive local and regional traditions and practices of scholarship Goh Beng Lans introduction frames the collection through her subtle deconstruction of international discourses on Southeast Asia. This introduction then allows the reader to view the different generations of Southeast Asian scholars in their social, political and academic contexts. The end result is a combined view of the state of the art of Southeast Asian Studies, a view that is greater than the sum of its national parts. Professor Adrian Vickers, Chair of Southeast Asian Studies, University of Sydney and Director, Australian Centre for Asian Art and Archaeology. The collection represents a coming of age of scholars from Southeast Asia. What we hear is not bluster that comes from a wounded pride or doctrinal certainties but a quiet confidence that acknowledges the multiple currents in which their scholarship has been formed and a willingness to engage the perspective of the other both within and without. The reflexivity in this volume sets the stage for scholars from the region to develop perspectives and concepts to address the challenges of the new configuration of the Asia being ushered in by ASEAN. Professor Prasenjit Duara, Raffles Professor of Humanities and Director of Research, Humanities and Social Sciences, National University of Singapore.

Inside Southeast Asia Niels Mulder, 2000. Written for both general readers and specialists, this book explores how modern urban Southeast Asians view and manage their social life. By comparing the ways they live with their religious representations with intimate and more distant others and with their rapidly changing environment, the author demonstrates the marked similarities in the perception of individual and society in three civilizations along the inner littoral of Southeast Asia irrespective of the great religious diversity that appears to characterize the region.

A History of Southeast Asia Anthony Reid, 2015-03-03. 2016 PROSE Award Honorable Mention for Textbook in the Humanities. A History of Southeast Asia: Critical Crossroads presents a comprehensive history of Southeast Asia from our earliest knowledge of its civilizations and religious patterns up to the present day. Incorporates environmental, social, economic and gender issues to tell a multi-dimensional story of Southeast Asian history from earliest times to the present. Argues that while the region remains a highly diverse mix of religions, ethnicities and political systems, it demands more attention for how it manages such diversity while being receptive to new ideas and technologies. Demonstrates how Southeast Asia can offer alternatives to state-centric models of history more broadly. Part of The Blackwell History of the World Series. The goal of this ambitious series is to provide an accessible source of knowledge about the entire human past for every curious person in every part of the world. It will comprise some two dozen volumes of which some provide synoptic views of the history of particular regions while others consider the world as a whole during a particular period of time. The volumes are narrative in form, giving balanced attention to social and cultural history in the broadest sense as well as to institutional development and political change. Each provides a systematic account of a very large subject but they are also both imaginative and interpretative. The Series is intended to be accessible to the widest possible readership and the accessibility of its volumes is matched by the style of presentation and production.
