Southern Marches Of Imperial Ethiopia Essays In History And Social Anthropology:

The Southern Marches of Imperial Ethiopia Donald Lewis Donham, Wendy James, 2002 Inter disciplinary approach to Ethiopian imperial history The Southern Marches of Imperial Ethiopia Donald Lewis Donham, Wendy James, 2002 These essays offer an approach to the understanding of imperial Ethiopia out of which the present state was created by the 1974 revolution After the 1880s Abyssinia under Menilek II expanded its ancient heartland to incorporate vast new territories to the south Here for the first time these regions are treated as an integral part of the empire The book opens with an interpretation of nineteenth century Abyssinia as an African political economy rather than as a variant on European feudalism and with an account of the north s impact on peoples of the new south Case studies from the southern regions follow four by historians and four by anthropologists each examining aspects of the relationship between imperial rule and local society In revealing the region s diversity and the relationship of the periphery to the centre the volume illuminates some of the problems faced by post revolutionary Ethiopia Land and Society in the Christian Kingdom of Ethiopia Donald Crummey, 2000 A study of gult from the 13th century to 1910 revealing much about the history of highland Christian Ethiopia

A Tributary Model of State Formation

Berhanu Abegaz,2018-06-09 A Tributary Model of State Formation Ethiopia 1600 2015 addresses the perplexing question of why a pedigreed Ethiopian state failed to transform itself into a nation state Using a comparative institutionalist framework this book explores why Ethiopia an Afroasian civilizational state has yet to build a modern political order comprising a sturdy state the rule of law and accountability to the ruled The book provides a theoretical framework that contrasts the European and the Afroasian modes of state formation and explores the three major variants of the Ethiopian state since 1600 Gondar Shewa and Revolutionary It does this by employing the conceptual entry point of tributarism and teases out the implications of this perspective for refashioning the embattled postcolonial African political institutions The primary contribution of the book is the novel framing of state formation through the lens of a landed Afroasiatic peasantry in giving rise to a fragile state whose redistributive preoccupation preempted the emergence of a productive economy to serve as a buoyant revenue base Unlike feudal Europe the dependence of the Afroasian state on arm s length overlordship rather than on tightly managed landlordship incentivized endemic extractive contests among elites with the capacity for violence for the non fixed tribute from independent wealth producers Tributarism I argue here stymied the transition from a resilient statehood to a robust nation statehood that befits an open order society This book will be of interest to scholars in economics political science political economics and African Studies Berhanu Abegaz is Professor of Economics College of William Mary USA

The Politics of Ethnicity in Ethiopia

An Economic History of Modern Ethiopia: The Imperial era, 1941-74

Shiferaw Bekele,1995 Ethiopia John Markakis,2011 An historical overview of Ethiopia s transformation from a multicultural empire into a modern nation state Provides the gist of one scholar s knowledge of this country acquired over several decades The author of numerous works on Ethiopia Markakis presents here an overarching concise historical profile of a momentous effort to integrate a multicultural empire into a modern nation state The concept of nation state formation provides the analytical framework within which this process unfolds and the changes of direction it takes under different regimes as well as a standard for assessing its progress and shortcomings at each stage Over a century old the process is still far from completion and its ultimate success is far from certain In the author s view there are two major obstacles that need to be overcome two frontiers that need to be crossed to reach the desired goal The first is the monopoly of power inherited from the empire builders and zealously guarded ever since by a ruling class of Abyssinian origin The descendants of the people subjugated by the empire builders remain excluded from power a handicap that breeds political instability and violent conflict The second frontier is the arid lowlands on the margins of the state where the process of integration has not yet reached and where resistance to it is greatest Until this frontier is crossed the Ethiopian state will not have the secure borders that a mature nation state requires John Markakis is a political historian who has devoted a professional lifetime to the study of Ethiopia and its neighbours in the Horn of Africa He has published several books and many articles on this area Ethiopian Studies at the End of the Second Millennium Baye Yimam,2002

Sociopolitical Development in Igbominaland, North-Central Yoruba, Nigeria Aribidesi Adisa Usman,2001 This study addresses the development of chiefdoms in north central Yorubaland AD 1200 1837 particularly the appearance of social complexity among the Igbomina According to the historical model of state village interaction chiefly office emerged as a response to the activities of Old Oyo state level polity in Igbominaland Developments at the core appear to have had a number of effects on the periphery The fieldwork included surveys and test excavations in the lowland and mountainous areas of Igbomina For the Old Oyo capital itself archaeological and ethnohistoric information from past investigations was used Changes in settlement pattern ceramics ritual practices and warfare appear to correlate with the Old Oyo's territorial expansion and consolidation As for state village interaction the relevant variables do not appear to have coincided in time with one another nor are they equally manifest in the various Igbominaland subregions Economic relations and direct political control are not well supported empirically
