Barter, 2024-10-15 Using real world data case studies this innovative and accessible textbook introduces an actionable framework for conducting trustworthy data science Most textbooks present data science as a linear analytic process involving a set of statistical and computational techniques without accounting for the challenges intrinsic to real world applications Veridical Data Science by contrast embraces the reality that most projects begin with an ambiguous domain question and messy data it acknowledges that datasets are mere approximations of reality while analyses are mental constructs Bin Yu and Rebecca Barter employ the innovative Predictability Computability and Stability PCS framework to assess the trustworthiness and relevance of data driven results relative to three sources of uncertainty that arise throughout the data science life cycle the human decisions and judgment calls made during data collection cleaning and modeling By providing real world data case studies intuitive explanations of common statistical and machine learning techniques and supplementary R and Python code Veridical Data Science offers a clear and actionable guide for conducting responsible data science Requiring little background knowledge this lucid self contained textbook provides a solid foundation and principled framework for future study of advanced methods in machine learning statistics and data science Presents the Predictability Computability and Stability PCS methodology for producing trustworthy data driven results Teaches how a data science project should be conducted from beginning to end including extensive discussion of the data scientist's decision making process Cultivates critical thinking throughout the entire data science life cycle Provides practical examples and illuminating case studies of real world data analysis problems with associated code exercises and solutions Suitable for advanced undergraduate and graduate students domain scientists and practitioners World War II Guide to Records Relating to U.S. Military Participation Rebecca L.
