The Horse in the Attic Barbara Frackowiak,2006-02 For ages 12 Poetic language and a theme of female strength underlie this fantasy novel about a 12 year old girl who believes her life is falling apart when her parents decide to separate She has to move from the house where she has always lived until that is she discovers a whole new world with larger than life heroes magical friends and frightening events over which she achieves control The depth of characterisation and the skillfully drawn child s viewpoint make this adventure story both escapist and finely attuned to the real joys and pains in life

Horse in the Attic-CC , Ancient Greek Horsemanship John Kinloch Anderson, Late Geometric and Protoattic Pottery, Mid 8th to Late 7th Century B.C.

Eva T. H. Brann,1962 This volume reports on Athenian pottery found in the Athenian Agora up to 1960 that can be dated from about the middle of the 8th century B C when the appearance of a painter of sufficient personal distinction to enliven the whole craft marks a real break from the earlier Geometric style through the third quarter of the 7th century B C when Protoattic gives way to black figure and black wares A sampling of contemporary imported ware is included The material is treated first by shape and then more extensively by painting styles Some 650 characteristic pieces are selected for cataloguing The introduction discusses the development of the various shapes and styles characterizing the special techniques and innovations of the period The topographical features of the Agora that are indicated by the places of discovery of deposits of late Geometric and Protoattic pottery are summarized under wells houses workshops sanctuaries cemeteries and roads

Ancient Greek Horsemanship J. K. Anderson,2023-11-15 In ancient Greece the arrival of the horse marked a turning point in military and cultural practices introduced initially by invaders who relied on the animal for their chariots Unlike the regions of Asia and Egypt where chariot warfare flourished on vast plains Greece s rugged terrain and limited pasture made widespread chariot use and horse breeding challenging The imported horses were generally small spirited animals suited to the compact plains of Greece and the needs of the noble classes who primarily maintained them Greek mythology and early art reflect this special status horses appear often in scenes of hunting or chariot racing as seen in Mycenaean seal stones but rarely in depictions of mounted riders indicating that horseback riding was still uncommon Over time as grazing land limitations persisted many horses had to be imported from more fertile regions and domestic breeding was confined largely to a wealthy elite By the 8th century B C significant changes began to reshape Greek society military tactics and horsemanship Influences from Mesopotamia Asia Minor and Egypt combined with internal shifts pushed Greek warfare from noble chariot duels toward phalanx style infantry combat accessible to a broader social class Additionally the reintroduction of eastern goods the Phoenician alphabet and orientalizing art motifs sparked a cultural renaissance that coincided with Greece's expanding use of horses now more often as mounts This shift toward horseback riding gained public interest exemplified by the establishment of mounted horse races at the Olympic Games in 648 B C Yet even as riding gained popularity the skill remained secondary to the noble class's dedication to the chariot horses whether ridden or driven continued to symbolize status and power in Greek society a tradition that shaped the evolution of horsemanship in classical Greece This title is part of UC Press's Voices Revived program which commemorates University of California Press's mission to seek out and cultivate the brightest minds and give them voice reach and impact Drawing on a backlist dating to 1893 Voices Revived makes high quality peer reviewed scholarship accessible once again using print on demand technology This title was originally published in 1961 The Iconography of Attic Late Geometric II Pottery Theodora Rombos, 1988
