

The Most Expensive College or University in Each US State

Based on 2021 Tuitions and Fees Reported by Title IV Post-Secondary Institutions*

Map Created By
Malcolm Tunnell

*A Title IV post-secondary institution is a college or university that participates in the federal student aid program. These institutions are highly regulated by the US Department of Education and are required to report their tuition and associated fees as well as the average cost of supplies, housing, and other costs of attending their institution.

Note: There are conflicting reports on whether tuition/fee levels can be used to measure the quality of education or the likelihood of student success upon graduation. This map was created as an information resource only and not as an educational advice.
