Learning to Pray Pieter Veerman, 2025-06-16 Pieter Veerman in his work explains why the Heidelberg Catechism is a unique teacher of thankfulness in its sixteenth century context Veerman provides an in depth theological analysis of Q A 115 129 The author compares this teaching with Catholic Lutheran and Reformed catechetical writings demonstrating that the Heidelberg Catechism is a synthesis of earlier theological thought The explanation of the Lord's Prayer is central as it is within the broader catechetical tradition The Heidelberg Catechism's uniqueness lies in its thoughtful presentation and integration of various elements By presenting catechetical answers in the form of prayers themselves this catechism establishes itself as a valuable manual of piety It differs from contemporaneous Catholic catechisms by emphasizing that true prayer arises from the heart Its emphasis on the Holy Spirit is a distinctly Reformed feature

System and Story Gale Heide, 2009-01-01 System and Story is intended to develop a means for bridging the gap between critics of system and those who may find value in doing systematics from a Biblically oriented context Narrative theologians have rightly identified and critiqued the development of system in academic theology Unfortunately they have not identified the ways in which systematic elements have always played a role in theological knowledge This study demonstrates the inherent systematic tendencies that still exist in narrative approaches to theology while at the same time acknowledging the appropriateness of aspects of the narrative critique of system The reaction against Enlightenment modernism is examined from the perspective of the heightened role of system in religious epistemology The work of Stanley Hauerwas serves to carry much of the conversation regarding the critique of system and a narrative alternative as it is discovered in communal formation After summarizing Hauerwas theology if such a thing is possible the final chapters explore the ecclesiological concerns of narrative theologians according to a more systematic rendering of pneumatology A Biblical rendering of pneumatology from the perspective of the Spirit's role in ecclesiology allows for a modest i.e. pre modern systematic presentation commensurate with narrative communal formation Thus the narrative attempt to once again do theology for the church is seen as compatible with a Scriptural i.e. modestly systematic theology of the Spirit

Conversion and the Politics of Religion in Early Modern Germany David M. Luebke, Jared Poley, Daniel C. Ryan, David Warren Sabean, 2012-05-01 The Protestant and Catholic Reformations thrust the nature of conversion into the center of debate and politicking over religion as authorities and subjects imbued religious confession with novel meanings during the early modern era The volume offers insights into the historicity of the very concept of conversion One widely accepted modern notion of the phenomenon simply expresses denominational change Yet this concept had no bearing at the outset of the Reformation Instead a variety of processes such as the consolidation of territories along confessional lines attempts to ensure civic concord and diplomatic quarrels helped to usher in new ideas about the nature of religious boundaries and therefore conversion However conceptualized religious change conversion had deep social and political implications for early modern German states and societies
