"Women, Manuscripts and Identity in Northern Europe, 1350?550 " Joni M.

Hand, 2017-07-05 Author Joni M Hand sheds light on the reasons women of the Valois courts from the mid fourteenth to the mid sixteenth century commissioned devotional manuscripts Visually interpreting the non text elements portraits coats of arms and marginalia as well as the texts Hand explores how the manuscripts were used to express the women s religious political and or genealogical concerns This study is arranged thematically according to the method in which the owner is represented Recognizing the considerable influence these women had on the appearance of their books Hand interrogates how the manuscripts became a means of self expression beyond the realm of devotional practice She reveals how noblewomen used their private devotional manuscripts as vehicles for self definition to reflect familial political and social concerns and to preserve the devotional and cultural traditions of their families Drawing on documentation of women s book collections that has been buried within the inventories of their fathers husbands or sons Hand explores how these women contributed to the cultural and spiritual character of the courts and played an integral role in the formation and evolution of the royal libraries in Northern Europe

Weaving, Veiling, and Dressing Kathryn M.

Rudy,Barbara Baert,2007 Christianity is a religion of clothing To become a priest or a nun is to take the cloth The Christian liturgy is intimately bound with veiling objects and revealing them Cloths hide the altar making it all the more spectacular when it is revealed Fragments of imported silk cradle the relic thereby giving identity to the dessicated bone Much of that silk came from the east meaning that a material of Islamic origin was a primary signifier of sanctity in Christianity Weaving Veiling and Dressing brings together twelve essays about text and textile about silk and wool about the formation of identity through fibre The essays bring to light hitherto unseen material and for the first time establish the function of textiles as a culturally rich way to approach the Middle Ages Textiles were omnipresent in the medieval church but have not survived well To uncover their uses presence and meanings in the Middle Ages is to reconsider the period spun draped clothed shrouded and dressed Textiles in particular were essential to the performance of devotion and of the liturgy Brightly dyed cloth was a highly visible maker of meaning While some aspects of culture have been studied namely the important tapestry industry as well as some of the repercussions and activities of cloth guilds other areas of textile studies in the period are yet to be studied This book brings an interdisciplinary approach to new material drawing on art history anthropology medieval text history theology and gender and performance studies It makes a compelling miscellany exploring the nature of Christianity in the largely uninvestigated field of text and textile interplay Flanders in a European Perspective Maurits Smeyers,Bert Cardon,1995 Peeters 1995 Introduction to Manuscript Studies Raymond Clemens,Timothy Graham,2007 This book provides an orientation to the field of medieval manuscript studies It will be of help to students in history art history literature and religious studies who are encountering medieval manuscripts for the first time while also appealing to advanced scholars and general readers interested in the history of the book before the age of print Every chapter in this guidebook features numerous color plates that exemplify each aspect described in the text and are drawn primarily from the collections of the Newberry Library in Chicago and the Parker Library of Corpus Christi College Cambridge Book jacket

Pre-Eyckian Panel Painting in the Low Countries Dominique Deneffe, Famke Peters, Wim Fremout, 2009 Surviving pre-Eyckian panel painting of around 1400 is in short supply but more remains than was thought At present the list of works to be studied includes some thirty objects in collections in Belgium and elsewhere In the first volume ten objects which in fact constitute the majority of pre-Eyckian works in Belgian collections are documented as thoroughly as possible Their interpretation is underpinned not only by classic art historical analysis but also by macro photography X radiography infrared photography and reflectography dendrochronological data and in so far as was feasible or justifiable laboratory analysis of pigments and binding media The research has benefited to the full from the expertise of the many specialists of the IRPA KIK In volume two of this publication are a number of individual contributions by guest authors They cover diverse topics ranging from specific technical observations regarding one noteworthy feature or group of works to historical context peripheral iconographic phenomena aspects of restoration and the exploration of Ghent's archives by way of a case study

Saints,

Scholars, and Politicians Mathilde van Dijk, Renée Nip, 2005 Over the past eighteen years gender has become a major analytical tool in medieval studies The purpose of this volume is to evaluate its use and to search for ways in which to improve and enhance its value The authors address the question of how gender relates to other tools of medieval research Several articles criticize the way in which an exclusive focus on gender tends to obscure the impact of other factors for instance class politics economy or the genre in which a source is written Other articles address wrong ways of using gender for instance monolithic or anachronistic views of what constitutes differences between men and women
