Folks,2015-07-11 Excerpt from The Human Costs of the War Why doesn't Europe function This in substance is the question which puzzled America has been asking all through the last half of 1919 Why must 1919 go down in history as M Brieux says as a lost year With huge excess stores of food and products why does trade delay Why does foreign exchange jump up and down like the temperature of a flu patient When Mr Hoover returned last July he was quoted as saying that unless Europe began promptly to produce there would be starvation in unheard of proportions this winter Now we hear that it is at hand Did they deliberately choose starvation or did they drift into it or is there still another and perhaps a more valid reason Production implies producers Who and where and in what condition are the producers of Europe We hear that Belgium and England are making real progress toward production Has this any relation to the fact that their military losses especially those of Belgium were much less in proportion than those of some other countries For five and a half years we have scarcely opened a morning paper without reading a head line telling of the sufferings of some new group of victims of the war About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works "The Human Costs of the War" Homer Folks,1919 The Human Cost of Nuclear War Stephen
