The Higher Civil Service in Britain Richard A. Chapman, 1970      The Higher Civil Service in the United States Mark W. Huddleston, William W. Boyer, 2010-11-23 Every time control of the U S presidency is passed from one party to another the entire top layer of the executive branch changes Thousands of men and women take down their pictures pack up their desks and move back into private life just as others dust off their pictures and move in The U S stands alone in this respect Nearly every other advanced democracy is managed save for elected officials and a few top aides by an elite cadre of top civil servants selected by highly competitive examinations Huddleston and Boyer tell the story of U S efforts to develop higher civil service beginning with the Eisenhower administration and culminating in the passage of the Civil Service Reform Act of 1978 Arguing that the highly politicized U S system simply hasn't worked they examine why and how reform efforts have failed and offer a series of recommendations for the future

Public Administration in India Shriram Maheshwari, 2005 The book examines the development and role of the higher civil service that is the IAS and allied services in India and their prominent role in the Indian government

The Higher Civil Service in West Germany Kenneth Ivins Hanf, 1968      Senior Executive Service Maeve P. Carey, 2011-06-10 Congress created the SES in 1978 to provide a government wide mobile corps of managers within federal agencies The SES comprising mostly career appointees who are chosen through a merit staffing process is the link between the politically appointed heads of agencies and the career civil servants within those agencies The Civil Service Reform Act of 1978 CSRA incentivized good performance among senior executives by basing their compensation on their performance The CSRA tasked the creation and distribution of SES positions within the government to the Office of Personnel Mgt OPM which was also established by the CSRA The SES includes most of the government's managerial and policy positions above the General Schedule GS grade 15 More than three decades after its existence the SES still serves as the link between political appointees who run agencies and the career government workers in the agencies

Role of Higher Civil Service in India R. Dwarkadas, 1958      Decentralizing The Civil Service R.A. W. Rhodes, P. Carmichael, J. McMillan, A. Massey, 2003-02-16 This book is concerned with the civil services of the United Kingdom examining their characteristics and trends since 1970 It provides a map of the British civil service beyond Whitehall giving an individual country by country analysis of the civil services of the UK It considers the implications of the changing nature of the civil services for our understanding of British governance especially in the context of the public sector management reforms of the 1980s and 1990s and the impact of constitutional change chiefly devolution since 1998 Given that devolution has been characterized as a process rather than an event the book brings to bear evidence of how existing longstanding differences within some parts of British public administration may come to be replicated elsewhere in the UK The authors also explore two controversial propositions First they ask whether Britain is moving from the unitary strong executive of the Westminster model to a differentiated polity characterized by institutional fragmentation Second they consider whether an unintended consequence of recent changes is a hollowing out of the state Is the British executive losing functions downwards to devolved governments and special purpose bodies and outwards to regional offices and agencies with a resulting loss of central capacity Substantial empirical data both quantitative and qualitative has been amassed here in order to give answers to these questions Decentralizing the Civil Service assesses the UK's changing civil services in the wake of two decades of public sector management reforms and New Labour's constitutional reform programme most notably devolution to Scotland Wales and Northern Ireland This assessment has significant implications for how we view governance in the UK

The Higher Civil Service of Great Britain Harold Edward Dale, 1941 Annual Report of the United States Civil Service Commission United States Civil Service Commission, 1918 Test Policy and the Politics of Opportunity Allocation: The Workplace and the Law Bernard R. Gifford, 2012-12-06 Bernard R Gifford In the United States the standardized test has become one of the major sources of information for reducing uncertainty in the determination of individual merit and in the allocation of merit based educational training and employment opportunities Most major institutions of higher education require applicants to supplement their records of academic achievements with scores on standardized tests Similarly in the workplace as a condition of employment or assignment to training programs more and more employers are requiring prospective employees to sit for standardized tests In short with increasing frequency and intensity individual members of the political economy are required to transmit to the opportunity marketplace scores on standardized examinations that purport to be objective measures of their and potential In many instances these test scores are the abilities talents only signals about their skills that job applicants are permitted to send to prospective employers

THE NATIONAL COMMISSION ON TESTING AND PUBLIC POLICY In view of the importance of these issues to our current national agenda it was proposed that the Human Rights and Governance and the Education and Culture Programs of the Ford Foundation support the establishment of a blue ribbon National Commission on Testing and Public Policy to investigate some of the major problems as well as the untapped opportunities created by recent trends in the use of standardized tests particularly in the workplace and in schools

Practical papers in higher arithmetic George Edward Skerry, 1894 Task Force Reports United States. Commission on Organization of the Executive Branch of the Government (1953-1955), 1955 The Indian National Congress John Murdoch, 1898 Aid and Inequality in Kenya Gerald Holtham, Arthur Hazelwood, 2010-11-29 This reissue first published in 1976 considers the rapid rate of economic growth in Kenya combined with its apparent political stability to determine whether or not this is indeed a case of growth without development and if so where the responsibility for aid lies in this situation The book concludes that while Kenyan growth has not been to an ideal pattern accompanied by an increase in inequality there is little or no reason to believe that living standards have not improved It examines the impact of aid on Kenya s progress at both the microeconomic and macroeconomic level and provides an institutional study of the impact of aid on Kenyan Government policy formation and administration and a discussion of British aid s political purposes and influence in Kenya The authors conclude that some of the effects predicted by the critics of aid are visible but that the net effect on general living standards has been strongly positive concluding that the problems constitute a case for improving aid procedures but not against aid itself Building capability in the Senior Civil Service to meet today's challenges Great Britain: National Audit Office,2013-06-19 The Government now accepts the urgent need for a leadership group that can think across departmental boundaries and lead change but there is still a long way to go to change the long standing culture of the Senior Civil Service The NAO watchdog welcomed the ambition of the Civil Service Reform Plan and emphasised the urgent need to make progress given that the plan underpinned the Government s chances of achieving further efficiency savings At present there are significant skills shortages particularly in the areas of commerce project management digital delivery and change leadership In December 2012 only four out of 15 Permanent Secretaries at major delivery departments had significant operational delivery and commercial experience The 24 professional networks in the civil service lack influence across departmental silos and may not be the right groupings to meet the needs of the modern service The Government intends to open up the service with more internal transfers and free flow of skills to and from the private sector and build on an approach already in place for the top 200 But the proportion of new recruits from the private sector fell in 2009 10 as departments cut spending and has yet to recover Promotion to the Senior Civil Service is becoming so financially unattractive as to put off talented people The NAO warns that the latest moves to increase pay flexibility and offer incentives for business critical roles may not be enough to recruit motivate and retain the right people The Dublin University Review ... ,1885 The Nation ,1882 The Atlantic Monthly ,1880 Annual Report ,1899 Bookseller and the Stationery Trades' Journal ,1891
