The Highest State Of Consciousness:

Higher-order Theories of Consciousness Rocco J. Gennaro, 2004-01-01 Higher Order HO theories of consciousness have in common the idea that what makes a mental state conscious is that it is the object of some kind of higher order representation This volume presents fourteen previously unpublished essays both defending and criticizing this approach to the problem of consciousness It is the first anthology devoted entirely to HO theories of consciousness There are several kinds of HO theory such as the HOT higher order thought and HOP higher order perception models and each is discussed and debated Part One contains essays by authors who defend some form of HO theory Part Two includes papers by those who are critics of the HO approach Some of the topics covered include animal consciousness misrepresentation the nature of pain subvocal speech subliminal perception blindsight the nature of emotion the difference between perception and thought first order versus higher order theories of consciousness and the relationship between nonconscious and conscious mentality

The Reflexive Nature of Consciousness Greg Janzen, 2008-03-27 Combining phenomenological insights from Brentano and Sartre but also drawing on recent work on consciousness by analytic philosophers this book defends the view that conscious states are reflexive and necessarily so i.e. that they have a built in implicit awareness of their own occurrence such that the subject of a conscious state has an immediate non objectual acquaintance with it As part of this investigation the book also explores the relationship between reflexivity and the phenomenal or what it is like dimension of conscious experience defending the innovative thesis that phenomenal character is constituted by the implicit self awareness built into every conscious state This account stands in marked contrast to most influential extant theories of phenomenal character including qualia theories according to which phenomenal character is a matter of having phenomenal sensations and representationalism according to which phenomenal character is constituted by representational content Series A
