Some scholars assert that African American Studies use a well defined common approach in examining history, politics and the family in the same way as scholars in the disciplines of economics, sociology and political science. Other scholars consider African American Studies multidisciplinary, a field somewhat comparable to the field of education in which scholars employ a variety of disciplinary lenses, be they anthropological, psychological, historical, etc. to study the African world experience. In this model the boundaries between traditional disciplines are accepted and researches in African American Studies simply conduct discipline based analysis of particular topics. Finally another group of scholars insists that African American Studies is interdisciplinary, an enterprise that generates distinctive analyses by combining perspectives from all disciplines.
