Government response to the fifth report of the House of Commons Work and Pensions Select Committee, session 2012-13, into Part 1 of the draft Pensions Bill Great Britain: Department for Work and Pensions, 2013-05-10 Dated May 2013 Government response to HC 1000 session 2012 13 ISBN 9780215055552 House of Commons - Business, Innovation and Skills Committee: Open Access - HC 99-I Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Business, Innovation and Skills Committee, 2013-09-10 The Government's commitment to increasing access to published research findings and its desire to achieve full open access are welcomed in this report from the Business Innovation and Skills Committee However whilst Gold open access where authors publish their articles in an open access journal that provides free immediate open access to all of its articles on the publisher's website is a desirable ultimate goal focusing on it during the transition to a fully open access world is a mistake The Government and Research Council UK should reconsider their preference for Gold open access during the five year transition period and give due regard to the evidence of the vital role that Green open access and repositories have to play as the UK moves towards full open access Authors opting for Green open access publish in any subscription journal and then make their peer reviewed final draft freely accessible online by self archiving or depositing the article in a repository either institutional or disciplinary upon acceptance for publication Other recommendations include promotion of standardisation and compliance across subject and institutional repositories mitigation against the impact on universities of paying Article Processing Charges out of their own reserves introduce a reduced VAT rate for e journals non disclosure clauses should not be used in publishing contracts that include the use of public funds BIS must review its consultation processes to ensure that lessons are learned from the lack of involvement of businesses particularly SMEs in the formation of open access policy House of Commons - Business, Innovation and Skills Committee: Payday Loans - HC 789 Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Business, Innovation and Skills Committee, 2013-12-20 The rapid expansion of the payday loan sector has been accompanied by a significant increase in the number of people experiencing serious debt problems which suggests people should think carefully before taking out such loans Furthermore the number of payday loan adverts seen by 4 15 year olds has increased from 3 million in 2008 to 596 million in 2012 The Committee's recommendations include all payday loan companies should be required to resubmit their affordability tests to the FCA for approval before they can continue in the sector and the FCA should make clear that if real time data sharing has not been established by July 2014 it will mandate its use as a condition of trading in the sector a limit should be set of one roll over per payday loan Payday lenders should be required to give 3 working days notice before using a continuous payment authority CPA and each notice should set out the right of a customer to cancel the CPA the FCA should discuss with the Information Commissioners Office how texts on payday loans could be disaggregated to identify the extent of bad practice and if this evidence base demonstrates inappropriate targeting or marketing the FCA should move to ban all brokering of payday loans through email texts and other personal mobile devices when payday loans come under the authority of the FCA they will be subject to a levy which should be ring fenced by the Money Advice Service solely for the funding of front line debt advice services Journals of the House of Commons Great Britain House of Commons,1826 Review of management and services of the House of Commons Kevin Sir Tebbit,Great Britain, Parliament, House of Commons Commission,2007-06-25 Following on from previous reports published in 1990 and 1999 this publication examines how the services to support the institution of the House of Commons and MPs are governed managed and delivered The objective of the report has been to respect the status and character of the House and to preserve the special qualities of the House Service while seeking to build organisational and executive capacity and to promote effectiveness accountability and value for money Amongst the 56 conclusions and recommendations made the report seeks to highlight the importance of an independent audit facility including placing the chairmanship of the Audit Committee in the hands of an external Committee member and instituting a rolling programme of NAO value for money audits It also recommends a revamped role for the Office for the Chief Executive with responsibility for strategic planning strengthening the position of the Finance and Services Committee to improve scrutiny of spending proposals and to support the governing role of the Commission a centralised and professional human resources team to develop the House staff as a collective resource and to overcome the inefficiencies of the present personnel structure and the creation of further joint Departments between the two Houses in the interests of reducing overhead costs and general efficiency House of Commons - Business, Innovation and Skills Committee: Draft Consumer Rights Bill - HC 697-I Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Business, Innovation and Skills Committee,2013-12-23 The Government s draft Consumer Rights Bill has the potential to consolidate simplify and modernise consumer law however issues and inconsistencies must be resolved The current proposals would apply a statutory right that services under a contract must be provided with reasonable care and skill a fault based standard This does not provide sufficient consumer protection The Draft Bill should require that services must achieve the stated result or one which could be reasonably expected an outcomes based standard As the Bank of Ireland case demonstrated the right to terminate a contract does not necessarily protect consumers from detriment This report recommends an addition to the grey list the indicative list of contract terms which may be regarded as unfair The Government s proposals for enhanced consumer measures which would require traders that have breached consumer law to compensate consumers are welcome However private enforcers should also be able to use them The collective proceedings regime has the potential to improve access to redress for victims of competition law breaches but the Government must clarify the certification requirements for such proceedings The creation of rights and remedies for digital content is welcome but the Government must do more to communicate how the proposals will work in practice Under the draft Bill the remedies available to consumers of digital content would depend on whether the content is intangible such as a music download or tangible such as a CD In appropriate circumstances consumers should have the right to reject and obtain a refund irrespective of whether they purchase intangible or tangible digital content

Parliament, 1885 Report of the Dominion fishery commission on the fisheries of the province of Ontario 1893 issued as vol 26 no 7 supplement Dramas at Westminster Marc Geddes, 2019-12-06 Based on unprecedented access to the UK Parliament this book challenges how we understand and think about accountability between government and Parliament Drawing on three months of research in Westminster and over forty five interviews this book focuses on the everyday practices of Members of Parliament and officials to reveal how parliamentarians perform their scrutiny roles Some MPs become specialists while others act as lone wolves some are there to try to defend their party while others want to learn about policy Amongst these different styles chairs of committees have to try to reconcile these interpretations and either act as committee orientated catalysts or attempt to impose order as leadership orientated chieftains All of this pushes and pulls scrutiny in competing directions and tells us that accountability depends on individual beliefs everyday practices and the negotiation of dilemmas In this way MPs and officials create a drama or spectacle of accountability and use their performance on the parliamentary stage to hold government to account Dramas at Westminster
