From Menstruation to the Menopause Maria Kathryn

Tomlinson,2021-05-15 This book examines the representation of the female fertility cycle in contemporary Algerian Mauritian and French women's writing It focuses on menstruation childbirth and the menopause whilst also incorporating experiences such as miscarriage and abortion This study frames its analysis of contemporary women's writing by looking back to the pioneering work of the second wave feminists Second wave feminist texts were the first to break the silence on key aspects of female experience which had thus far been largely overlooked or considered taboo Second wave feminist works have been criticised for applying their universal theories to all women regardless of their ethnicity socio economic status or sexuality This book argues that contemporary women's writing has continued the challenge against normative perceptions of the body that was originally launched by the second wave feminists whilst also taking a more nuanced contextual and intersectional approach to corporeal experience The cross cultural and interdisciplinary approach of this book is informed not only by critics of the second wave feminist movement but also by sociological studies which consider how women's bodily menopause was a word of fear Then as now expensive magazines advertised even more expensive anti ageing preparations none of which worked Big pharma was pushing replacement hormones but doctors were dragging their feet Some women told horror stories of their experiences with replacement hormones others called them lifesavers Nobody knew why some women went through this change of life without difficulty What was working for them when other women were tormented almost to madness It seemed that we were close to an answer to that question but that was before large scale studies revealed that the protective effects of hormone replacement had been vastly exaggerated given the perceived increase in the risk of life threatening disease the studies had to be called off Now more than ever amid the clamour of online chatrooms and promotions for a vast array of alternative therapies the individual woman has to manage her passage through menopause for herself In The Change Germaine Greer provides a common sense guide to a very interesting and important stage of women's lives The Medical Brief ,1896 The American Gynaecological and Obstetrical Journal ,1897 The Menopause, Hormone Therapy, and Women's Health ,1992 An information guide to information on the subject of menopause
