The Strangers Book

Lloyd Pratt,2015-09-28 The Strangers Book explores how various nineteenth century African American writers radically reframed the terms of humanism by redefining what it meant to be a stranger Rejecting the idea that humans have easy access to a common reserve of experiences and emotions they countered the notion that a person can use a supposed knowledge of human nature to claim full understanding of any other person's life Instead they posited that being a stranger unknown and unknowable was an essential part of the human condition Affirming the unknown and unknowable differences between people as individuals and in groups laid the groundwork for an ethical and democratic society in which all persons could find a place If everyone is a stranger then no individual or class can lay claim to the characteristics that define who gets to be a human in political and public arenas Lloyd Pratt focuses on nineteenth century African American writing and publishing venues and practices such as the Colored National Convention movement and literary societies in Nantucket and New Orleans Examining the writing of Frederick Douglass in tandem with that of the francophone free men of color who published the first anthology of African American poetry in 1845 he contends these authors were never interested in petitioning whites for sympathy or for recognition of their humanity Instead they presented a moral imperative to develop practices of stranger humanism in order to forge personal and political connections based on mutually acknowledged and always evolving differences

Brown Threat Kumarini

Silva,2016-11-01 What is brown in and beyond the context of American identity politics How has the concept changed since 9 11 In the most sustained examination of these questions to date Kumarini Silva argues that brown is no longer conceived of solely as a cultural ethnic or political identity Instead after 9 11 the Patriot Act and the wars in Iran Iraq and Afghanistan it has also become a concept and indeed a strategy of identification one rooted in xenophobic imperialistic and racist ideologies to target those who do not neatly fit or subscribe to ideas of nationhood Interweaving personal narratives ethnographic research analyses of popular events like the Miss America pageant and films and TV shows such as the Harold and Kumar franchise and Black-ish Silva maps junctures where the ideological political and mediated terrain intersect resulting in an appetite for all things brown especially South Asian brown by U S consumers while political and nationalist discourses and legal structures immigration migration outsourcing incarceration conspire to control brown bodies both within and outside the United States Silva explores this contradictory relationship between representation and reality arguing that the representation mediates and manages the anxieties that come from contemporary global realities in which brown spaces like India Pakistan and the Middle East pose key economic security and political challenges to the United States While racism is hardly new what makes this iteration of brown new is that anyone or any group at any time can be branded as deviant as a threat The Mysteries of London.
