Taxonomic Tapestries Alison M Behie,Marc F Oxenham,2015-05-26 This volume explores the complexity diversity and interwoven nature of taxonomic pursuits within the context of explorations of humans and related species It also pays tribute to Professor Colin Groves whose work has had an enormous impact on this field Recent research into that somewhat unique species we call humankind through the theoretical and conceptual approaches afforded by the discipline of biological anthropology is showcased The focus is on the evolution of the human species the behaviour of primates and other species and how humans affect the distribution and abundance of other species through anthropogenic impact Weaving together these three key themes through the considerable influence of Colin Groves provides glimpses of how changes in taxonomic theory and methodology including our fluctuating understanding of speciation have recrafted the way in which we view animal behaviour human evolution and conservation studies Orbital Forcing and Cyclic Sequences P. L. DeBoer,D. G. Smith,2009-04-08 Classically orbital cycles have been recognized in pelagic and lacustrine sequences characterized by quiet sedimentation not disturbed by tectonics However there is now increasing recognition that orbital cycles do influence climate and oceanography in general terms There is also increasing acceptance of the possibility at least that the effect should be felt over large parts of the Earth s surface and that orbital cycles may well leave signs in other sedimentary environments that are commonly considered to be dominated by tectonics and eustasy Containing thirty one papers from a symposium held at the International Sedimentological Congress in Nottingham in 1990 this volume spans a range of topics from the astronomical theory behind orbital forcing to field studies dealing with a broad range of sedimentary environments and to modelling and simulation State of the art research papers International expert authorship The latest research in the highly topical subject of orbital forcing Encyclopedia of Space Science and Technology Hans Mark,2003
