Socialism and International Economic Order Elisabeth L. Tamedly, 1969 The theory of international economic order is concerned with two basically different types of human relationships those that belong to the private sphere of the individual and which are amenable to the rule of law the dominium and those that are backed by sovereign national power the imperium It is very important to know which fields of human activity are subject within a given state to imperium and which are left to the regulating influence of market values and private law

The Political Economy of Stalinism

Paul R. Gregory,2003-10-27 This book uses the formerly secret Soviet state and Communist Party archives to describe the creation and operations of the Soviet administrative command system It concludes that the system failed not because of the jockey i e Stalin and later leaders but because of the horse the economic system Although Stalin was the system s prime architect the system was managed by thousands of Stalins in a nested dictatorship The core values of the Bolshevik Party dictated the choice of the administrative command system and the system dictated the political victory of a Stalin like figure This study pinpoints the reasons for the failure of the system poor planning unreliable supplies the preferential treatment of indigenous enterprises the lack of knowledge of planners etc but also focuses on the basic principal agent conflict between planners and producers which created a sixty year reform stalemate
