Spatial Language Cognitive And Computational Perspectives:

Spatial Language Kenny R. Coventry, P. Olivier, 2002 People constantly talk to each other about experience or knowledge resulting from spatial perception they describe the size shape orientation and position of objects using a wide range of spatial expressions The semantic treatment of such expressions presents particular challenges for natural language processing The meaning representation used must be capable of distinguishing between fine grained sense differences and ambiguities grounded in our experience and perceptual structure While there have been many different approaches to the representation and processing of spatial expressions most computational characterisations have been restricted to particularly narrow problem domains The chapters in the present volume reflect a commitment to the development of cognitively informed computational treatments of spatial language and spatial representation Therefore the chapters present computational work empirical work or a combination of both The book will appeal to all those interested in spatial language and spatial representation whether they work in artificial intelligence cognitive science cognitive psychology or linguistics Spatial Cognition III Christian Freksa, Wilfried Brauer, Christopher Habel, Karl F. Wender, 2003-06-23 This third volume documents the results achieved within a priority program on spatial cognition funded by the German Science Foundation DFG The 23 revised full papers presented went through two rounds of reviewing and improvement and reflect the increased interdisciplinary cooperation in the area The papers are organized in topical sections on routes and navigation human memory and learning spatial representation and spatial reasoning Spatial Information Theory. Foundations of Geographic Information Science Daniel R. Montello, 2001-09-05 This book constitutes the refereed proceedings of the 5th International Conference on Spatial Information Theory COSIT 3001 held in Morro Bay CA USA in September 2001 The 30 revised full papers presented together with three full keynote papers were carefully reviewed and selected from more than 70 submissions The papers are organized in topical sections on geographical ontology and ontologies qualitative spatio temporal reasoning formalizations of human spatial cognition space cognition and information systems human and machine approaches to navigation language and space and cognitive mapping Constructions in Cognitive Contexts Franziska Günther, 2016-11-07 In what ways are language cognition and perception interrelated Do they influence each other This book casts a fresh light on these questions by putting individual speakers cognitive contexts i.e. their usage preferences and entrenched patterns of linguistic knowledge into the focus of investigation It presents findings from original experimental research on spatial language use which indicate that these individual specific factors indeed play a central role in determining whether or not differences in the current and/or habitual linguistic behaviour of speakers of German and English are systematically correlated with differences in non linguistic behaviour visual attention allocation to and memory for spatial referent scenes These findings form the basis of a new speaker focused usage based model of linguistic relativity which defines language perception cognition effects as a phenomenon which primarily occurs within individual speakers rather than between speakers or speech communities      Space in Mind Daniel R. Montello, Karl E. Grossner, Donald G. Janelle, 2014-11-21 The current spatial turn in many disciplines reflects an emerging scholarly interest in space and spatiality as central components in understanding the natural and cultural worlds In Space in Mind leading researchers from a range of disciplines examine the implications of research on spatial thinking and reasoning for education and learning Their contributions suggest ways in which recent work in such fields as spatial cognition geographic information systems linguistics artificial intelligence architecture and data visualization can inform spatial approaches to learning and education After addressing the conceptual foundations of spatial thinking for education and learning the book considers visualization both external for example diagrams and maps and internal imagery and other mental spatial representations embodied cognition and spatial understanding and the development of specific spatial curricula and literacies from dust jacket

Spatial Cognition ,2005      Psychology and Cognitive Science Michel Denis, 1998 This special issue includes revised versions of papers presented at the IUPsyS Symposium Psychology and Cognitive Science held during the XXVIth International Congress of Psychology in Montreal August 1996 The introductory article reports the results of an international survey conducted for the IUPsyS on the place and role of psychology in cognitive science the next three papers are illustrations of interdisciplinary approaches to cognitive issues Approaches to discourse comprehension by cognitive psychology artificial intelligence linguistics and neurobiology are discussed and it is considered how the human mind and machines represent knowledge from discourse and text Finally there is a description of a computational approach to vision and language inspired by psychological theories      Studies in Language and Cognition Jordan Zlatev, 2009 Using various concepts theories and methods this book describes theoretical and empirical studies that are united in their approach of treating language not in isolation but as both based on structures and processes of cognition and at the same time as affecting the human mind      Internationale Bibliographie der Rezensionen wissenschaftlicher Literatur ,2003
