Beiträge Zur 14. Internationalen Konferenz Zu Stadtplanung, Regionalentwicklung und Informationsgesellschaft Manfred Schrenk, 2009 Liturgy, Theurgy, and Active Participation Kjetil

Kringlebotten, 2023-09-08 Providing a metaphysical grounding for liturgical participation this book argues that active participation in the liturgy must be understood principally as our participation in God's act particularly in the act of Christ and only secondarily as our ritual involvement Utilizing Neoplatonist philosophy Kjetil Kringlebotten proposes that this should be understood in terms of theurgy which is the human participation in divine action which finds its consummation in the incarnation of Christ Without the incarnation all acts will remain extrinsic and imposed but acts can become real and intrinsic precisely because the incarnation makes possible true union with the divine a metaphysical union in distinction without confusion because this union is not extrinsic Through union with Christ as the one common focus of the divine human relation we can have true union with God and may offer true worship In order to make sense of active participation then we need to understand theology in theurgic terms where theurgy is understood not as a mechanical coercion of God but as a participation in His act in creation and through Christ as the true theurgist the master theurgist Whose work transforms our act and the liturgy

Anthropos Today Paul Rabinow, 2009-02-09 The discipline of anthropology is at its best characterized by turbulence self examination and inventiveness In recent decades new thinking and practice within the field has certainly reflected this pattern as shown for example by numerous fruitful ventures into the politics and poetics of anthropology Surprisingly little attention however has been given to the simple insight that anthropology is composed of claims whether tacit or explicit about anthropos and about logos and the myriad ways in which these two Greek nouns have been might be and should be connected Anthropos Today represents a pathbreaking effort to fill this gap Paul Rabinow brings together years of distinguished work in this magisterial volume that seeks to reinvigorate the human sciences Specifically he assembles a set of conceptual tools modern equipment to assess how intellectual work is currently conducted and how it might change Anthropos Today crystallizes Rabinow s previous ethnographic inquiries into the production of truth about life in the world of biotechnology and genome mapping and his invention of new ways of practicing this pursuit and his findings on how new practices of life labor and language have emerged and been institutionalized Here Rabinow steps back from empirical research in order to reflect on the conceptual and ethical resources available today to conduct such inquiries Drawing richly on Foucault and many other thinkers including Weber and Dewey Rabinow concludes that a contingent practice must be developed that focuses on events of problematization Brilliantly synthesizing insights from American French and German traditions he offers a lucid deeply learned original discussion of how one might best think about anthropos today
