Joseph A. Altsheler, 2013-07-15 Paul stopped in a little open space and looked around all the circle of the forest Everywhere it was the same just the curving wall of red and brown and beyond the blue sky flecked with tiny clouds of white The wilderness was full of beauty charged with the glory of peace and silence and there was naught to indicate that man had ever come The leaves rippled a little in the gentle west wind and the crisping grass bowed before it but Paul saw no living being save himself in the vast empty world The boy was troubled and despite his life in the woods he had full right to be This was the great haunted forest of Kain tuck ee where the red man made his most desperate stand and none ever knew when or whence danger would come Moreover he was lost and the forest told him nothing he was not like his friend Henry Ware born to the forest the heir to all the primeval instincts alive to every sight and sound and able to read the slightest warning the wilderness might give Paul Cotter was a student a lover of books and a coming statesman Fate it seemed had chosen that he and Henry Ware should go hand in hand but for different tasks The Forest Runners Joseph A. Altsheler, 2015-03-23 Henry glanced up at the heavens It was far past noon and the golden sun was gliding down the western arch I think said Henry that it would be best for us to walk as fast as we can on the back track and then try to dry out our clothing a little He started at once and Paul walked swiftly by his side The rivulets that ran from their clothing decreased to tiny streams and then only drops fell The sinking sun shot sheaves of brilliant beams upon them and soon Paul felt a grateful warmth driving for the time the chill from his bones He swung his arms as he walked as much as the rifles would allow and nearly every muscle in his frame felt the touch of vigorous exercise Tallyho Frederick Feild Whitehurst, 1878 Run For It Karen Bridson, 2002-05-16 This book shows how women can change their lives with running Running can help combat stress depression PMS menopausal systems and more Live Stock Journal , 1922 McClure's
