The Future of Executive Development Mihnea C. Moldoveanu,Das Narayandas,2021-11-30 Executive development programs have entered a period of rapid transformation driven by digital disruption and a widening gap between the skills that participants and their organizations demand and those provided by their executive programs This work delves into the objective functions of the executive development space analyzes the demand characteristics of the learners and the organizations that pay for the programs and the ways in which business schools and other providers deliver or not on the promises they make regarding skill development and the continued value of learning to the organization They show how a trio of disruptive forces disintermediation disaggregation and decoupling which have figured prominently in industries disrupted by digitalization are reshaping the structure of demand for executive development The authors look at the future of executive development in the era of self refining algorithms aka machine learning and wearable sensors and computers and offer a compass for making the right choice for CEOs and CLOs who are guiding executive program design Ultimately they offer a guide for to optimize the learning production function for both skill acquisition and skill transfer the two charges that the new skills economy has laid out for any educational enterprise

Value Creation through Executive Development Solomon Akrofi,2018-12-07 The ability of organisations to generate long term value and growth depends to a very large extent on the capacity of the executive cohort to conceive and implement strategic initiatives through a well motivated and enabled workforce However generating consistent value in today s volatile uncertain complex and ambiguous VUCA and rapidly evolving digital economic landscape can be challenging and therefore executives need to update their capabilities regularly to align with the changing value drivers required for long term growth To achieve the expected value and growth at a more sustainable level executive development must be managed as a strategic asset and optimised through effective design and implementation and the effects must be proactively evaluated through meaningful leading indicators and actual hard measures Value Creation through Executive Development therefore offers a well supported and clearly structured approach to address the gap between executive development initiatives and the creation of long term organisational value and growth This book provides a valuable resource to executives and management development professionals who have experienced frustration about the lack of non value adding executive development programmes It also serves as a professional resource for managers of executive and management development programmes organisational development departments and organisational development consultants allowing them to integrate this material into existing programmes to achieve value centric outcomes and to achieve long term performance targets Additionally it serves as a teaching resource for participants in executive management development courses or seminars globally offering them the capacity to conduct value centric initiatives and gain the capacity to influence the tactical

BUSINESS DEVELOPMENT STRATEGIES AT NEW INDIA ASSURANCE Dr. Aparna Ger,Prof. (Dr.) B. K. Sarkar,Prof. (Dr.) Reena Singh,Prof.(Dr.) Vandana Singh,2024-11-15 The opening of the Indian insurance sector has been regarded as a watershed moment in the country's economic liberalisation. The existing insurance industry is increasing at a rate of 10% per year but Indian players have only tapped into a small portion of it. With a population of over 1 billion people India's insurance sector offers huge prospects and can easily support more than 100 insurers. The Indian insurance sector appears to have a lot of potential. In terms of diffusion and penetration India is one of the least insured countries. The changing demographic profiles of the economy as well as the changing nature of risk as a result of the adoption of new technology and talents are some of the elements that make the Indian insurance market so appealing      Enhancing Leadership Development in Kenyan MBA Programs Benson Katulwa,2015-11-19 The purpose of this study was to investigate the extent to which MBA graduates perceived their MBA education experience to have contributed towards the development of global leadership competencies in their lives. The collected data related to what the respondents perceived to have observed vis-à-vis what they would have considered adequate for the development of global leadership competencies. Stratified sampling technique was used to select the respondents using disproportionate allocation of respondents within strata. Data relating to the key research objectives were analyzed using nonparametric tests specifically the Chi square goodness of fit test and Wilcoxon signed ranks test. The study found a significant relationship between selected global leadership competencies and career success. Considering the amount of time allocated to the development of selected competencies frequency of use of selected instructional methods integration of theory with practice and integration of MBA education with leadership values and ethics the study concluded that the MBA education as offered in Kenyan business schools is not perceived by the respondents to be significantly enhancing the development of global leadership competencies among MBA graduates      The Future of Learning Shirine Voller,2010 Based on research informed future scoping and emerging practice in the field of executive education this book is split into three parts Future Context Future Learning and Future Learners.
