

THE GANZFELD PROCEDURE

At first this sounds like a bad practical joke. Begin by turning the radio to a station playing static. Then lie down on the couch and tape a pair of halved ping-pong balls over your eyes. Within minutes, you should begin to experience a bizarre set of sensory distortions. Some people see horses prancing in the clouds, or hear the voice of a dead relative. It turns out that the mind is addicted to sensation, so that when there's little to sense — that's the purpose of the ping-pong balls and static — your brain ends up inventing its own.

Probing Parapsychology Grant R. Shafer, 2023-05-29 Parapsychology is a science made controversial by its subjects: extrasensory perception, psychokinesis, mind over matter, and disembodied minds which imply life after death. Moreover, these parapsychological phenomena called psi challenge physicalism, the philosophy that everything can be completely understood in terms of physics. This book is a snapshot of the parapsychological field with essays written by authors of diverse academic backgrounds and experiences. Essays examine parapsychological phenomena from prehistory through the founding of the science by intellectuals distressed by physicalism to the postmodern present. It includes both experimental and theoretical evaluations of the phenomena. Parapsychology is a science which may overturn the philosophy which has dominated science since Newton and may inspire curious readers who are disheartened by the consequent denial of the spirit.
