Rudolf Eickemeyer Jr began his work as a photographer in 1884 for his father's engineering firm. His interest piqued he rapidly advanced to portraiture and landscape photography. Eickemeyer spent twenty years as a commercial success in his role as fashionable Fifth Avenue portraitist. Working with Eastman Kodak he demystified photography attracting thousands of amateurs. Eickemeyer excelled at both artistic photography and professional photography as this exhibition attests. A lifelong resident of Yonkers New York Eickemeyer played a key role in the creation of the Yonkers Museum of Science and Art the institutional forerunner of the Hudson River Museum an entirely appropriate venue for this comprehensive exhibition and catalog.

This comprehensive study of Rome's contribution to the early history of photography traces the medium's rise from a fledgling science to a dynamic form of artistic expression that forever changed the way we perceive the Eternal City. The authors examine the diverse transnational group of photographers who thrived in the cosmopolitan art center of Rome and the pivotal role they played in the refinement and technical development of the nascent medium in the nineteenth century. The book ranges from the earliest pioneers the French daguerreotypist Joseph Philibert Girault de Prangey and the Welsh calotypist Calvert Richard Jones to the work of the Roman School of Photography and its successors among them James Anderson and Robert Macpherson of Britain Frédéric Flachon Firmin Eugène Le Dien and Gustave Le Gray of France and Giacomo Caneva Adriano de Bonis and Pietro Dovizielli of Italy. Lavishly illustrated with 112 plates many never before published by nearly fifty practitioners this volume expands our understanding of the place of Rome in early photography. An exhibition of the same title to open at the Bowdoin College Museum of Art in December 2022 accompanies this study.
