Whereas it is found by Experience, That Trade with Indolent and Barbarous Nations not in Amity with Us, and who are not bound by any League or Treaty, cannot be carried on without the Establishment of Forts and Factories in places convenient, the maintenance whereof requires so great and constant Expence, that it cannot be otherwise defrayed, then by Managing the whole Trade by a Joynt Stock: We in Our Royal Wisdom taking the same into Our serious Consideration, and more especially having found by experience, That the whole Trade of the Coast of Guiny, Bailey and Angola, and other parts and places of Africa, so much importing our Revenue, and the Enriching of this Our Kingdom, was very much harassed, and attempted to be ingrossed by foreigners, and in eminent danger to be utterly lost, and taken from Us, and Our loving Subjects, not only by foreign Force, but by the Violence and Inconstancy of the Heathen Natives: For the Recovery and Preservation whereof, We were Graciously pleased to encourage and induce Our loving Subjects to Raise a Joynt Stock to be used and employed therein: And in consideration thereof, and for the better securing of such as should come in and be concerned in the said Joynt Stock and Trade, We did by Our Letters Patents under Our Great Seal of England, bearing date the Seven and twentieth day of September, in the four and twentieth year of Our Reign, Grant unto several of Our loving Subjects, the whole entire and sole Trade into and from Africa, from the Port of Sally in South Barbary inclusive, to the Cape de Bons Esperances inclusive, with all the Islands near adjoining to those Coasts, and comprehended within the Limits aforesaid, and did Incorporate them by the name of The Royal African Company of England: And the said Company having raised a very great Stock sufficient to Manage the Trade thereof, have since, at their great Expence and Charge, Fortified and Settled divers Nations, Ports and Factories, by which means they have so secured the said Trade, that the same doth now begin to flourish, and if not disturbed, is likely to be further improved to the great benefit of this Our Kingdom: Nevertheless, We are Informed by the humble Petition of the said Company, That divers of Our Subjects in Independent Order of Odd Fellows. Grand Lodge of Wisconsin, 1887 A Study of Svatantrika Donald S. Lopez Jr., 2016-09-13 A Study of Svatantrika represents an important contribution to our understanding of Mādhyamika philosophy in India and Tibet. The Mādhyamika is considered to have two subschools: Svatantrika and Prāsāngika. The Prāsāngika school of Candrakīrti is better known than Svatantrika in part because the major Svatantrika texts are preserved only in Tibetan translation. The Svatantrikas, however, made important contributions to Buddhist philosophy in their expositions of the nature of reality, the role of reasoning in the process of enlightenment, and in their delineations of the paths to nirvāṇa. The synthesis of Yogācāra and Mādhyamika philosophy by the Svatantrika master Nāgārjuna represents the final development of Buddhist thought in India. In Tibet, Svatantrika was the first Indian Buddhist school to gain currency prior to the translation of the works of Candrakīrti into Tibetan. In preparing this Study of Svatantrika, Donald S. Lopez Jr. consulted the major Indian works of the Svatantrikas, figures central to the development of Buddhist thought in India, such as Bhāvaviveka, Jānagarbha, Nāgārjuna, and Kamalaśīla, and analyzed a number of Tibetan expositions of Svatantrika. The result is the most extensive examination of this influential school available in the West.

Contesting the City Christian D. Liddy, 2017-08-15 The political narrative of late medieval English towns is often reduced to the story of the gradual intensification of oligarchy in which power was exercised and projected by an ever smaller ruling group over an increasingly subservient urban population. Contesting the

City takes its inspiration not from English historiography but from a more dynamic continental scholarship on towns in the southern Low Countries Germany and France Its premise is that scholarly debate about urban oligarchy has obscured contemporary debate about urban citizenship It identifies from the records of English towns a tradition of urban citizenship which did not draw upon the intellectual legacy of classical models of the citizen This was a vernacular citizenship which was not peculiar to England but which was present elsewhere in late medieval Europe It was a citizenship that was defined and created through action There were multiple and divergent ideas about citizenship which encouraged townspeople to make demands to assert rights and to resist authority This volume exploits the rich archival sources of the five major towns in England Bristol Coventry London Norwich and York in order to present a new picture of town government and urban politics over three centuries The power of urban governors was much more precarious than historians have imagined Urban oligarchy could never prevail whether ideologically or in practice when there was never a single fixed meaning of the citizen
