Nuclear Fictions Michael Gardiner, 2024-11-30 In this book Michael Gardiner suggests that the conception of the war ending weapon was tied up with a longer commitment to unified space and singular progress The mission for total weapons can be seen rising with the highly technical defensive war of the later nineteenth century and passing through twentieth century atomic research then the targeting of the outsides of commercial empire and the post war consensus with deterrence as its foundation The end of the Cold War brought an opportunity to fully naturalise deterrence but also brought a tacit acceptance of nuclear violence while forms of violence against the individual were rigorously sought out If the world unifying role of deterrence has always been undermined by the rise of rival empires it has also been questioned by critical communities including the consensus sceptics of the 1950s 60s 1980s 90s Nuclear Criticism and readers of nuclear ism millennial campaigns for Scottish independence and twenty first century descriptions of nuclear colonialism Recently it has become more obvious that an Anglosphere concept of worldly deterrence was bound to a singular and ultimately nihilistic idea of progress bio Michael Gardiner is Professor in the Department of English and Comparative Literature at the University of Warwick Dreamworlds of Race Duncan Bell,2022-06-07 How transatlantic thinkers in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries promoted the unification of Britain and the United States Between the late nineteenth century and the First World War an ocean spanning network of prominent individuals advocated the unification of Britain and the United States They dreamt of the final consolidation of the Angloworld Scholars journalists politicians businessmen and science fiction writers invested the Anglo Saxons with extraordinary power The most ambitious hailed them as a people destined to bring peace and justice to the earth More modest visions still imagined them as likely to shape the twentieth century Dreamworlds of Race explores this remarkable moment in the intellectual history of racial domination political utopianism and world order Focusing on a quartet of extraordinary figures Andrew Carnegie W T Stead Cecil J Rhodes and H G Wells Duncan Bell shows how unionists on both sides of the Atlantic reimagined citizenship empire patriotism race war and peace in their quest to secure global supremacy Yet even as they dreamt of an Anglo dominated world the unionists disagreed over the meaning of race the legitimacy of imperialism the nature of political belonging and the ultimate form and purpose of unification The racial dreamworld was an object of competing claims and fantasies Exploring speculative fiction as well as more conventional forms of political writing Bell reads unionist arguments as expressions of the utopianism circulating through fin de si cle Anglo American culture and juxtaposes them with pan Africanist critiques of racial domination and late twentieth century fictional narratives of Anglo American empire Tracing how intellectual elites promoted an ambitious project of political and racial unification between Britain and the United States Dreamworlds of Race analyzes ideas of empire and world order that reverberate to this day Sir Francis Drake Julian Corbett,1898 Frank R.
