The Green Hour:

The Green Hour Todd Christopher, 2010 The National Wildlife Federation's GreenHour.org is a website devoted to giving parents and caregivers the information tools and inspiration they need to get their kids and themselves outside. The NWF recommends that parents give their kids a Green Hour every day, a time for unstructured play and interaction with the natural world which can take place in a garden, a backyard, the park, down the street or any place that provides safe and accessible green space where children can learn and play. With the same goal of offering families fun ways to explore nature, the book is a field guide to outdoor adventure offering activities, fun facts, science lessons and practical advice for engaging children in outdoor nature play that presents teachable moments and open-ended exploration of the natural world. Here are a range of starting points for nature-themed outdoor activities and explorations beginning in your own backyard and progressively moving farther afield, all of them adaptable for children of different ages, abilities and learning styles. Green Space, Green Time Connie Barlow, 2012-12-06 In a provocative book that is sure to be controversial, Connie Barlow puts forth a compelling case for breaching the barrier between science and religion in effect for a reunification of knowledge and meaning. Evolutionary biology rendered as an Epic of Evolution provides a powerful origin story appropriate for our times. Conservation biology, ecology and Gaia theory all reveal how we fit in with the natural world. Barlow argues that they can not only inform our ethics but also expand our sense of meaning. In dozens of unusually candid conversations with leading scientists and philosophers, she presents an emerging view of a new meaning for science in our lives and why this new meaning is crucial for our times. Green Space, Green Time could well mark a turning point in humanity's troubled relationship with nature.
