

Declaration of Independence

IN CONGRESS JULY 4th. 1776.

The unanimous Declaration of the thirteen united States of America

When in the course of these events we found it necessary to declare the political principles which have connected them with each other, and to declare the reasons which have led us to the present state of affairs, we have thought it proper to publish the following Declaration, in order to inform the world of the reasons which have led us to the present state of affairs.

We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness.

That to secure these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed, that whenever any Form of Government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the Right of the People to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new Government, laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their Safety and Happiness. Prudence, indeed, dictates that Governments of long duration should establish such Principles, that the Foundation will be laid, that the superstructure may be built, that the edifice may be completed, that the people may be enabled to live in peace and harmony, and that the Government may be able to secure the rights of the people, and that the people may be able to secure the rights of the Government.

David Litwa, 2024-03-07 Who were the Simonians Beginning in the mid second century CE heresiologists depicted them as licentious followers of the first gnostic a supposedly Samaritan self deifier called Simon who was thought to practice magic and became known as the father of all heresies Litwa examines the Simonians in their own literature and in the literature used to refute and describe them He begins with Simonian primary sources namely The Declaration of Great Power embedded in the anonymous Refutation of All Heresies and The Concept of Our Great Power Nag Hammadi codex VI 4 Litwa argues that both are early second century products of Simonian authors writing in Alexandria or Egypt Litwa then moves on to examine the heresiological sources related to the Simonians Justin the book of Acts Irenaeus the author of the Refutation of All Heresies Pseudo Tertullian Epiphanius and Filaster He shows how closely connected Justin s report is to the portrait of Simon in Acts and offers an extensive exegesis and analysis of Simonian theology and practice based on the reports of Irenaeus and the Refutator Finally Litwa examines Simonianism in novelistic sources namely the Acts of Peter and the Pseudo Clementines By the time these sources were written Simon had become the father of all heresies Accordingly virtually any heresy could be attributed to Simon As a result despite their alluring portraits of Simon these sources are mostly unusable for the historical study of the Simonian Christian movement Litwa concludes with a historical profile of the Simonian movement in the second and third centuries The book features appendices which contain Litwa s own translations of primary Simonian texts Book ,2013-01-01 Scrapbook containing letters souvenir programmes and various news cuttings The Abolition of Privateering and the Declaration of Paris Francis R.
