The Governors Palace Archive:

Ancient Archives and Archival Traditions Maria Brosius, 2003 Our oldest archival records originate from the Near East Systems of archival record keeping developed over several millennia in Mesopotamia before spreading to Egypt the Mycenaean world and the Persian empire and continuing through the Hellenistic and Seleucid periods Yet we know little about the way archival practices were established transmitted modified and adapted by other civilizations This interdisciplinary volume offers a systematic approach to archival documents and to the societies which created them addressing questions of formal aspects of creating writing and storing ancient documents and showing how archival systems were copied and adapted across a wide geographical area and an extensive period of time Manuscripts and Archives Alessandro Bausi, Christian Brockmann, Michael Friedrich, Sabine Kienitz, 2018-02-19 Archives are considered to be collections of administrative legal commercial and other records or the actual place where they are located They have become ubiquitous in the modern world but emerged not much later than the invention of writing Following Foucault who first used the word archive in a metaphorical sense as the general system of the formation and transformation of statements in his Archaeology of Knowledge 1969 postmodern theorists have tried to exploit the potential of this concept and initiated the archival turn In recent years however archives have attracted the attention of anthropologists and historians of different denominations regarding them as historical objects and grounding them again in real institutions The papers in this volume explore the complex topic of the archive in a historical systematic and comparative context and view it in the broader context of manuscript cultures by addressing questions like how by whom and for which purpose were archival records produced and if they differ from literary manuscripts regarding materials formats and producers scribes Classified Catalogue of the Library of the Royal Geographical Society to December 1870 Evans, 1871 Catalogue of the library of the Royal colonial institute.
