The Great Arch Philip Corrigan,1985      The Great Arch Philip Corrigan,Derek Sayer,1991      Science, Culture, and Modern State Formation Patrick Carroll,2006-10-02 This highly original groundbreaking study explores the profound relationship between science and government to present a new understanding of modern state formation Beginning with the experimental science of Robert Boyle in seventeenth century England Patrick Carroll develops the concept of engine science to capture the centrality of engineering practices and technologies in the emerging mechanical philosophy He traces the introduction of engine science into colonial Ireland showing how that country subsequently became a laboratory for experiments in statecraft Carroll s wide ranging study spanning institutions political philosophy and policy implementation demonstrates that a number of new technological developments from cartography statistics and natural history to geology public health and sanitary engineering reveal how modern science came to engineer land people and the built environment into a material political state in an unprecedented way creating the modern state Shedding new light on sociology the history of science and technology and on the history of British colonial projects in Ireland from the seventeenth to the nineteenth centuries his study has implications for understanding postcolonial occupations and nation building ventures today and on contemporary dilemmas such as the role of science and government in environmental sustainability This highly original groundbreaking study explores the profound relationship between science and government to present a new understanding of modern state formation Beginning with the experimental science of Robert Boyle in seventeenth century England

Pietism and the Making of Eighteenth-Century Prussia Richard L. Gawthrop,2006-11-02 This work describes the relationship between Pietism and the rise of the Prussian state      State Formation Christian Krohn-Hansen,Knut G. Nustad,2005-09-20 What is the state and how can we best study it This book investigates new ways of analysing the state The contributors argue that the state is not a fixed and definite object Our perceptions of it are constantly changing and differ from person to person What is your idea of the state if you are a refugee Or if you are living in post apartheid South Africa Our perceptions are formed and sustained by evolving discourses and techniques these come from institutions such as government but are also made by communities and individuals The contributors examine how state structures are viewed from the inside by official state bodies composed of bureaucrats and politicians and how these state manifestations are supported reproduced or transformed at a local level An outline of theoretical approaches is followed by nine case studies ranging from South Africa to Peru to Norway With a good range of contributors including Cris Shore Clifton Crais Ana Alonso and Bruce Kapferer this is a comprehensive critical analysis of anthropological approaches to the study of state formation

State Formations John L. Brooke,Julia C. Strauss,Greg Anderson,2018-03-29 Featuring a sweeping array of essays from scholars of state formation and development this book presents an overview of approaches to studying the history of the state Focusing on the question of state formation this volume takes a particular look at the beginnings structures and constant reforming of state power Not only do the contributors draw upon both modernist and postmodernist theoretical perspectives they also address the topic from a global standpoint examining states from all areas of the world In their diverse and thorough exploration of state building the authors cross the theoretical geographic and chronological boundaries that traditionally shape this field in order to rethink the customary macro and micro approaches to the study of state building and make the case for global histories of both pre modern and modern state formations Journal of Education ,1896

Historical Abstracts ,1989 Hidden Histories of Gender and the State in Latin America Elizabeth Dore,Maxine Molyneux,2000 DIVCollection of essays which compares the gendered aspects of state formation in Latin American nations and includes new material arising out of recent feminist work in history political science and sociology div Encyclopedia of Historians and Historical Writing Kelly Boyd,1999 Contains over 800 entries ranging from Lord Acton and Anna Comnena to Howard Zinn and Herodotus to Simon Schama Over 300 contributors have composed critical assessments of historians from the beginning of historical writing to the present day including individuals from Law, Regulation, and Governance Michael Mac Neil,Neil Sargent,Peter Daniel Swan,2002 This collection of essays addresses globalization and its impact on how states regulate the behaviour of their citizens through legal frameworks Rethinking Radical Education Ali Rattansi,David A. Reeder,1992 In Rethinking Radical Education practitioners researchers and activists offer a critical assessment of contemporary and historical forms of radical education They place the radical tradition in a historical context and reflect on its real strengths and achievements as well as its limitations anti racism peace education world studies and environmental studies and ask what their achievements have been Of course there is the recognition that radicalism is not the sole property of the left much of the New Right s thinking on education is revolutionary This collection while honouring the life work of Brian Simon provides a re evaluation and reformulation of education as we enter a new political era

Twenty Years of the Journal of Historical Sociology Yoke-Sum Wong,Derek Sayer,2008 Scholars of Bohemian, Czech and Czechoslovak History Studies: R-Z Jaroslav Pánek,Svatava Raková,Václava Horčáková,2005 In Search of the Bourgeois Revolution ,1987 Transformations of Patriarchy in the West Pavla Miller,1998 This wide ranging study of familial political and economic change in the West between the sixteenth and the nineteenth centuries is organized around two themes the rise and fall of a patriarchalist social order and its replacement by fraternal forms of governance and the attempts by various reformers to instill self mastery originally expected of monks and masters into subject populations and the frequently unforeseen effects of this process By linking schooling state building and transformations of patriarchal forms of governance the book also reopens the debate about the social forces that produced state school systems and about the ways schools affected people and institutions Clear and accessible throughout the book will be of interest to scholars and students in history sociology education women s and gender studies and cultural studies Studies in Political Economy ,1989 Ideology, Travell, and Social Change in Early Modern English Culture David J. Morrow,2003 Agrarian

Capitalism and Poor Relief in England, 1500-1860 Larry Patriquin, 2007-10-11 Agrarian Capitalism and Poor Relief in England 1500 1860 examines the evolution of public assistance for the poor in England from the late medieval era to the Industrial Revolution Placing poor relief in the context of the unprecedented class relations of agrarian capitalism and the rise of a unique non absolutist state it accounts for why relief in England was distinct with comparisons made to Scotland Ireland France and Germany The author argues that poor relief was a substitute for access to land and common rights a virtual exchange of money as compensation for the creation of absolute private property In a work both challenging and provocative Larry Patriquin makes a case for a class based reinterpretation of the origins of the welfare state Clearly written and well organized this new explanation of the great transformation will contribute to debates in British history Marxism social welfare historiography theories of the state and the transition to capitalism     Shakespearean Criticism ,1984
