Business Administration course Strategic Management language English abstract

If you take the words of a former General Electric's GE employee to define strategy William E Rothschild said What do you want to achieve or avoid The answers to this question are objectives How will you go about achieving your desired results The answer to this you can call strategy This statement not only highlights the need for strategy but also the need to bring strategy to fruition Companies should not only devise strategy but also successfully clarify and execute their strategies This means that a company has to be able to measure its strategic success Unfortunately company strategy is not always transparent or understood in the same way by a company's key players Sun Tzu a Chinese military strategist who wrote the military treatise The Art of War praised this aspect for strategies in war as follows All men can see these tactics whereby I conquer but what none can see is the strategy out of which victory is evolved The Strategy Map created by Kaplan and Norton is to facilitate corporate strategy development and execution providing a missing link between strategy formulation and strategy implementation by identifying the key internal processes that drive strategic success and by aligning investment in people technology and organizational capital for the greatest impact The first part of the assignment describes in detail the theoretical framework of Strategy Maps The second part uses the theory to describe and visualize the Strategy Map of General Electric Medical Systems GEMS the world's leading manufacturer of diagnostic imaging equipment This practical approach is based on the publication of Tarun Khanna about GEMS in the Harvard Business School Press in Strategy Maps, 2018 More than a decade ago Robert S Kaplan and David P Norton introduced the Balanced Scorecard a revolutionary performance measurement system that allowed organizations to quantify intangible assets such as people information and customer relationships Then in The Strategy Focused Organization Kaplan and Norton showed how organizations achieved breakthrough performance with a management system that put the Balanced Scorecard into action Now using their ongoing research with hundreds of Balanced Scorecard adopters across the globe the authors have created a powerful new tool the strategy map that enables companies to describe the links between intangible assets and value creation with a clarity and precision never before possible Kaplan and Norton argue that the most critical aspect of strategy implementing it in a way that ensures sustained value creation depends on managing four key internal processes operations customer relationships innovation and regulatory and social processes The authors show how companies can use strategy maps to link those processes to desired outcomes evaluate measure and improve the processes most critical to success and target investments in human informational and organizational capital Providing a visual aha for executives everywhere who can't figure out why their strategy isn't working Strategy Maps is a blueprint any organization can follow to align processes people and information technology for superior performance Harvard Business Review, 2004 Strategies in Global Industries Allen Morrison, 1990-06-12 This insightful monograph explodes some of the myths introduced by well known business consultants and by strategic planning academics and replaces myth with comprehensive model of business strategies that is applicable to the contemporary marketplace where international trade and competitiveness are issues of critical concern Today s American businesses are challenged both at home and abroad in market battles that frequently threaten the survival of entire domestic industries In Strategies in Global Industries Morrison develops a comprehensive model of business strategies that is a prescription for increasing the competitiveness of U S companies He argues that many U S firms misperceive global industry opportunities and as a consequence pursue strategies that may suboptimize performance Indeed Morrison found little evidence that U S businesses are actually competitive on a global scale Results of his study of 115 global U S companies that have annual average sales of over 900 million form the basis for his groundbreaking conclusions that will have wide applicability to global concerns The study s conceptual foundation consists of an integration of the contingency perspective of strategic management and the industry organization perspective of the business s context These two perspectives are vital to an in depth understanding of the relationship between business strategy and performance in global industries Four appendixes detail the survey instrument and SIC Code related data Twenty six figures graphically display information relating to strategy classification research methodology global industries key business unit characteristics strategy types and dimensions in global industries and more An important contribution to the vital study of U S competitiveness on a global scale the volume offers many fact based new insights into ways to foster and improve the competitiveness of U S companies

Competitive Strategy Dynamics Kim Warren,2002 This book offers a practical fact based approach to explain how enterprises deliver performance over time Rigorous methods explain how to quantify the growth decline and interdependence within the organisation s resources and capabilities as well as the continuous interactions with competitors and other external factors These methods create clear and practical pictures of the strategic architecture driving earnings and other performance outcomes not just for commercial firms but for non profit cases too Management is then well equipped to answer three crucial questions in their strategy development why has the business performed as it has to date where is performance headed in the future if we carry on as now and how can we alter this future for the better The book provides the basis for an entire course on the time based perspective on competitive strategy connecting strongly to established static frameworks Alternatively it offers a vital missing component for existing courses in strategy and general management as well as a key reference text for professionals in corporate development consulting and business analysis
