Archambault., 2014-05-22 I felt I had been placed in the center of something that was alive pulsating with life I knew God had placed me there and that he was in control As I stood there sobbing I felt something the consistency of liquid being poured over my head again and again It ran down the entire length of my body My knees buckled and I fell to the floor from the weight of it With each pour I felt a love for my father that was so big and powerful that I actually felt my body would burst This was not a natural love it was far greater As this liquid was being poured upon me I became aware of a powerful presence in the room Then I heard the Lord say to me I had to anoint you so that you could feel just a little of the love I have for your father Kant on Freedom and Spontaneity Kate A.  Lynne Pearce, 2026-02-06 The book addresses long standing geographical debates on place place attachment and kin aesthetics as well as the unique spatial temporal properties of journeying Drawing upon the author's road diaries and photographic archive dating back to the 1990s the analysis centres on a route that runs from Scotland to Cornwall and which incorporates motorways A roads and unclassified country lanes In addition to seeking to capture material evidence of change across a wide variety of road features and driving events many of them transient incidental and mundane the book is also concerned with how change makes its presence known to the observer This includes the question of how and why road users sometimes develop powerful attachments for particular routes and roadside landmarks To this end the analysis is in conversation with recent debates in contemporary archaeology the aesthetics of the everyday and geographical research on dis orientation as well as Henri Bergson's foundational work on the phenomenology of perception and memory And yet it is the restless teeming life of the British roads featured in the case studies the A30 the A82 the M5 the M6 the M74 and Cornwall's narrow winding lanes that makes this book memorable especially given that post millennium many of the changes to which it bears witness are epic in consequence Congestion electrification automation the arrival of SMART motorways and extreme weather events arising from climate change all feature here alongside the disappearance of the roadside cafes filling stations phone boxes lay bys and snack bars associated with twentieth century motoring This interdisciplinary exploration of Britain's changing roads and roadscapes will appeal to academics and students working in and across the fields of social and cultural geography mobilities studies cultural history literary and cultural theory and contemporary archaeology Its
