The Catskills in Vintage Postcards Irwin Richman, 1999-11-15 This fascinating new history of the Catskills of New York showcases more than two hundred of the best most evocative vintage postcards available. From the 1890s through the 1920s the postcard was an extraordinarily popular means of communication. Many of the postcards produced during this golden age and even some from later years can today be considered works of art. Postcard photographers traveled the length and breadth of the nation snapping photographs of busy street scenes documenting local landmarks and assembling crowds of local children only too happy to pose for a picture. These images printed as postcards and sold in general stores and five and dimes across the country survive as telling reminders of an important era in America's history.

Temple in Vintage Postcards Michael LeFan, Mike LeFan, 2004 Showcasing life in Temple in all its variety the postcards featured in this volume pay tribute to a beloved hometown in the heart of Texas.

Visualizing Orientalness Björn A. Schmidt, 2017 In the early twentieth century Hollywood was fascinated by the Far East. Chinese immigrants however were excluded since 1882 and racism pervaded U.S. society. When motion pictures became the most popular form of entertainment immigration and race were heavily debated topics. Visualizing Orientalness is the first book that analyses the significance of motion pictures within these discourses. Taking up approaches from the fields of visual culture studies and visual history Björn A. Schmidt undertakes a visual discourse analysis of films from the 1910s to 1930s. The author shows how the visuality of films and the historical discourses and practices that surrounded them portrayed Chinese immigration and contributed to notions of Chinese Americans as a foreign and other race.

Cohoes Spindle City Historic Society, 2014 Cohoes has long held an attraction for visitors with reports from European travelers at the Cohoes Falls dating to the 17th century. The Cohoes Falls were a favored destination for writers and romantics, daredevils and diplomats. The textile mills in Cohoes powered by water from the Mohawk River and an innovative power canal system would draw immigrant mill workers, industrialists and engineers. Cohoes was a crossroads for travelers because of its thriving industries, natural wonders and strategic location along major transportation networks the Hudson and Mohawk Rivers, the Erie and Champlain Canals, railroads and highways. Those arriving in Cohoes came from all walks of life and many places. In this book historic postcards take readers on a tour of the sites of Cohoes including downtown, the mill district, the island and the hill.

Dearborn County, Indiana in Vintage Postcards Milton A.
