Race and Beauty Josie Schoel, 2025-04-29 This work examines how beauty standards specifically the ideology of fairness contributed to the racialization of bodies in early modern England Schoel emphasizes the need to dismantle whiteness's invisibility in historical criticism noting that it has long been an unexamined norm By focusing on the materiality of cosmetic whiteness the text aims to disrupt colorblind ideologies and reveal the mechanisms behind white supremacy Drawing on diverse texts like sonnets travel literature and medical treatises the book discusses how light skin and hair were idealized symbolizing Christian virtue and femininity This rhetoric of fairness not only promoted racial hierarchies but also constructed whiteness through cosmetics like whitening creams and exfoliants These practices associated with Queen Elizabeth I's image and widely reproduced in theater medicine and household texts led to a cult of whiteness The locus of the cult was Queen Elizabeth I whose materially constructed reds and whites in her portraiture and on the surface of her skin resounded throughout the commonwealth If the cult of whiteness was founded by Elizabeth's propagandistic image campaign it was facilitated and reproduced through theatrical productions medical treatises household manuals and the birth of the apothecary which made the materials of whiteness accessible to a wider socially diverse network of consumers The book is not only an ideal resource for students and scholars of early modern studies performance and Critical Race Studies but for all those seeking an introduction to constructions of race in early modern England

Played in Tyne and Wear Lynn F. Pearson, Simon Inglis, 2010 It used to be said that whenever a football UK manager needed a goal scorer all he had to do was travel to the North East of England call down a mineshaft and up would pop a centre forward But while the careers of Alan Shearer Raich Carter Bobby Robson Brian Clough and Jackie Milburn all attest to the famous description of the North East as the hotbed of football the region's miners and shipbuilders were just as likely to be formidable boxers rowers runners cricketers or pigeon racers In Played on Tyne and Wear the 16th book in English Heritage's groundbreaking Played in Britain series architectural historian Lynn Pearson guides the reader on an intimate tour of the area's sporting treasures from the site of the celebrated Blaydon Races in Newcastle to a cockfighting pit in Tynemouth and from the cantilevered heights of Sunderland's Stadium of Light to the homespun delights of Britain's only listed pigeon cove in Ryhope On Newcastle's Town Moor one of the great open spaces of urban Britain Pearson traces the path of the Toon's old racecourse and the haunts of strong armed pot share bowlers whose matches drew tens of thousands of gamblers in the 19th century while an echo from the other side of the Moor recalls the smoky clamour of the 5 000 capacity St James Hall where the likes of Seaman Tommy Watson and Jack Casey the Sunderland Assassin drew massive crowds between the wars The River Tyne itself has witnessed many an epic rowing battle not least featuring the legendary oarsman Harry Clasper whose funeral drew an estimated 100 000 to the streets in 1870 More recently the likes of Brendan Foster and Steve Cram have continued the North East s reputation for great athletes and for great events such as the Great North Run and the now annual Gateshead Grand Prix Lesser known gems from the Victorian era include the Ashbrooke sports ground in Sunderland a real tennis court at Jesmond and a handball wall in Wallsend while the region is dotted with charming bowls and tennis pavilions golf courses and cricket grounds Profusely illustrated with archive images specially commissioned contemporary photography and detailed mapping Pearson s study may not get Geordies and Mackems to bury the past but it shows they have sporting heritage aplenty to share as neighbours Semi Invisible Man Julian Evans,2008

Apocalypse and Golden Age Christopher Star,2021-12-07 How did the ancient Greeks and Romans envision the end of the world What is the long term future of the human race Will the world always remain as it is or will it undergo a catastrophic change What role do the gods human morality and the forces of nature play in bringing about the end of the world In Apocalypse and Golden Age Christopher Star reveals the answers that Greek and Roman authors gave to these questions The first large scale investigation of the various scenarios for the end of the world in classical texts this book demonstrates that key thinkers often viewed their world as shaped by catastrophe Star focuses on how this theme was explored over the centuries in the works of poets such as Hesiod Vergil Ovid and Lucan and by philosophers including the Presocratics Plato Epicurus Lucretius Cicero and Seneca With possibilities ranging from periodic terrestrial catastrophes to the total dissolution of the world these scenarios address the ultimate limits that define human life and institutions and place humanity in the long perspective of cosmic and natural history These texts also explore various options for the rebirth of society after world catastrophe such as a return of the Golden Age or the redevelopment of culture and political institutions Greek and Roman visions of the end Star argues are not calls to renounce this world and prepare for a future kingdom Rather they are set within larger investigations that examine and seek to improve personal and political life in the present Contextualizing classical thought about the apocalypse with biblical studies Star shows that the seeds of our contemporary anxieties about globalization politics and technology were sown during the Roman period Even the prevalent link between an earthly leader and the beginning of the end times can be traced back to Greek and Roman rulers the emperor Nero in particular Apocalypse and Golden Age enriches our understanding of apocalyptic thought The School Librarian ,2005
