The Gaudy:

The Hatchet Man William Marshall, 2016-07-14 Postman Lawrence Shang was watching a film called The Axeman of Shanghai when his life abruptly ended Carpet trader Edward Peng was enjoying The Last Picture Show Death in both cases was instantaneous caused by a small calibre handgun used at a range of two feet With their deaths begins a series of apparently motiveless murders in one cinema after another across the Hong Bay district of Hong Kong and a nightmarish investigation for Harry Feiffer Detective Chief Inspector Royal Hong Kong Police Force and his staff at the Yellowthread Police Station The Hatchet Man's next victim is a sailor off an American ship Then a German is shot in an auction room There's an unaccountable killing on a train near the Chinese border And the crazy old Mrs Mortimer from the Old People's Home steps in front of a tram And for Harry Feiffer time is running out Full of real police procedure suspense and fine irony but with whole extra dimensions of the surreal and the poignant the Yellowthread Street novels have no real compare For those open to their charms this series is a hidden masterpiece of crime fiction Praise for the Yellowthread Street series Marshall has the rare gift of juggling scary suspense and wild humor and making them both work Washington Post Book World Marshall's style blending the hilarious the surreal and the poignant remains inimitable and not easily resisted San Francisco Chronicle Marshall has few peers as an author who melds the wildest comedy and tragedy in narratives of nonstop action Publishers Weekly Marshall is building a growing iconoclastic body of work that mixes weird fantasy and wayward characterization to produce a subtle charged atmospheric lush fiction hybrid sure to satisfy those with a taste for mysteries on the far edges Philadelphia Inquirer Despite the wild humor Marshall's stories contain excellent police procedure real suspense and fine irony incessantly scary Chicago Tribune Among the best police procedural series on the market Detroit Free Press As an inspired poet of the bizarre Marshall orchestrates underlying insanity into an apocalyptic vision of the future New York Times Book Review Marshall's novels feature seemingly supernatural events that turn out to have logical if not precisely rational origins He has savage fun with police procedure TIME Nobody rivals Marshall's ability to expose the links between comic hysteria and the most mundane human foibles from greed to cowardice to simple funk Kirkus Reviews Moves at the speed of a bullet don't read it aloud or you'll run out of breath Chicago Sun Times The Monthly Chronicle of North-country Lore and Legend, 1889 Bracika's bunch Bajruzin Hajro Planjac, 2022-12-13 These children bunches of friends and dudes are in general one of the main literary themes great challenge and inspiration in writings of our and foreign children writers Reasons and the necessity for this children grouping are for sure universal and unfettered by space time game national decay or any other unnatural limitation Main reasons for grouping are above all play and the necessity for socializing because child is social being like the adults are The novel Bracika's bunch of Bajruzin Hajro Planjac had already seven editions and that tells us that this time about children bunches of dudes did not pass in contrary It is still present and shows us plenty of new themes motives and different ways of art shaping This novel in many elements of thematic and aesthetic structure belongs to the classical structure and form of the children novels. However, children gather themselves because of fun and play, and every member of the bunch has something interesting for him, but at the end he acts like other in the bunch want. Members of this bunch: Sajo, Dado, Pike, Russian, Kenta, Rile, Dino, and Bracika. In every occasion, they show that this bunch has its own rules of behavior. However, the structure of the novel and the way of developing of fabule show marvelous characteristics of this novel of Planjac that are marked in two parallels and that makes this novel so unique and different in the compare of established form of this genre. Great structure is because of the little Bracika who is boy that maturing in this novel. This is the boy that has the most attention of the writer. Esthetic experience while reading this novel is crystallized with spontaneous emotion which gives than a process of perception identification with heroes and events. Esthetic subject can be seen in the context and writer's fiction in reader's consciousness and makes this novel personal with personal experience and creative act. At the end, it is good to point out that the novel Bracika's bunch gives to little readers all they really like: play, fun, humor, and the spirit relaxation.

Samuel Orchard Beeton, 1872 More Lights Than One Patrick Bizzaro, 2004 Under the interpretive gaze Chappell's stories reveal a dazzling range and all of his work shows a concern with the relationship between the spiritual and material in people's lives, the moral development of the human race, and the flawed, enigmatic, and yet enlightening interaction between men and women. Large Networks and Graph Limits László Lovász, 2012 Recently it became apparent that a large number of the most interesting structures and phenomena of the world can be described by networks. To develop a mathematical theory of very large networks is an important challenge. This book describes one recent approach to this theory: the limit theory of graphs which has emerged over the last decade. The theory has rich connections with other approaches to the study of large networks such as property testing in computer science and regularity partition in graph theory. It has several applications in extremal graph theory including the exact formulations and partial answers to very general questions such as which problems in extremal graph theory are decidable. It also has less obvious connections with other parts of mathematics: classical and non-classical like probability theory, measure theory, tensor algebras, and semidefinite optimization. This book explains many of these connections first at an informal level to emphasize the need to apply more advanced mathematical methods and then gives an exact development of the theory of the algebraic theory of graph homomorphisms and of the analytic theory of graph limits. This is an amazing book, readable, deep, and lively. It sets out this emerging area, makes connections between old classical graph theory and graph limits, and charts the course of the future. Persi Diaconis, Stanford University. This book is a comprehensive study of the active topic of graph limits and an updated account of its present status. It is a beautiful volume written by an outstanding mathematician who is also a great expositor. Noga Alon, Tel Aviv University, Israel. Modern combinatorics is by no means an isolated subject in mathematics but has many rich and interesting connections to almost every area of mathematics and computer science The research presented in Lovasz's book exemplifies this phenomenon This book presents a wonderful opportunity for a student in combinatorics to explore other fields of mathematics or conversely for experts in other areas of mathematics to become acquainted with some aspects of graph theory Terence Tao University of California Los Angeles CA Laszlo Lovasz has written an admirable treatise on the exciting new theory of graph limits and graph homomorphisms an area of great importance in the study of large networks It is an authoritative masterful text that reflects Lovasz's position as the main architect of this rapidly developing theory The book is a must for combinatorialists network theorists and theoretical computer scientists alike Bela Bollobas Cambridge University UK

Intersexuality in the Animal Kingdom R. Reinboth, 2012-12-06 When Richard Goldschmidt coined the term intersexuality in 1915 he intended it to apply to normally dioecious species which exhibit some kind of mixture between male and female characters However as knowledge of the bewildering variability present in the sexual organization of members of the animal kingdom has increased the original meaning of the word has changed Today many authors define intersexuality as the presence of both male and female characteristics or of intermediate sexual characteristics in a single individual 2 This more extensive and widely accepted concept justifies the title of our book Among all the anatomical and physiological features of living organisms the reproductive system has a unique importance for the perpetuation of the species Conversely reproductive processes are of little or no account for the viability of the individual Therefore within the framework of general biology reproduction has all too often been looked at solely from the point of view of genetics Lively discussions about genotypic versus phenotypic sex determination long dominated the scientific literature on sexuality in animals this one-sided emphasis has tended to obscure many important facets of an organism's ability to reproduce Recent developments in current biological research have brought the classic problem of sex differentiation into focus again and the rapid progress being made in comparative endocrinology has added a new dimension to the study of reproductive biology

Vale of Humility

George Hovis, 2007 This is an inviting look at the influence of the yeoman's small farm on six modern southern writers In a deft analysis of works by Doris Betts Reynolds Price Fred Chappell Lee Smith Clyde Edgerton and Randall Kenan Vale of Humility explores the lives of the plain folk white and black who populate the worlds of contemporary North Carolina fiction Hovis explains that a wealthy planter elite was significantly less prominent in North Carolina than in neighboring regions and as such the state's plain folk did not develop a class identity based as deeply in relation to a superior planter class Instead the identification of the yeoman's small farm rather than the plantation as necessary to the ideal life has been a distinguishing feature of the state's literature In this first full length study of North Carolina's contemporary fiction Hovis examines the work of six representative writers from the state's three geographic regions Lee Smith and Fred Chappell from the mountains Doris Betts and Clyde Edgerton from the Piedmont and Reynolds Price and Randall Kenan from the coastal plain The work of these six writers is explored within the broader southern literary tradition with attention to how they have revised such modes as pastoral family saga and southwestern humor in order to portray their own regional experiences. Although these writers celebrate the egalitarianism at the heart of the yeoman ideal they also expose the forms of racism, sexism, and classism that have also marked the state's history.
