Despite the materialist turn in modernist studies the extent and depth of D H Lawrence s engagement with the literary marketplace has not been considered The labelling of him as a working class genius has concealed the question of how he became a published writer Analysing the literary marketplace of the long Edwardian period this book assesses the circumstances for becoming an author at this time examining Lawrence s changing conceptions of what kind of writer he wanted to be and who he wanted to write for It reconsiders the significance of Lawrence s literary mentors Ford Madox Hueffer and Edward Garnett and recovers several figures including Violet Hunt and Ezra Pound whose significance for Lawrence s career has been underestimated The book evaluates how Lawrence s work was marketed and received by the reading public in Britain and America examining publishing houses including Heinemann Duckworth T Fisher Unwin and Mitchell Kennerley and literary journals and magazines such as the New Age the English Review Madame and Forum
