On the occasion of the Golden Deer exhibition a number of scholars gathered at a symposium held at the Metropolitan Museum in October 2000 followed in the next few months by a series of invited lectures. The speakers offered regional perspectives covering the broad expanse of the steppe corridor. They presented exciting discoveries from recent archaeological excavations not only at Filippovka but also at Pokrovka in the Urals, Bel'sk in the Pontic steppes, Berel in the Altai region of Kazakhstan, Arzhan near Tuva in southern Siberia and Xinjiang in western China. The contributors of the twenty essays in this collection have added significantly to our view of the steppe world. They have presented us not only with new data from archaeological excavations extending from the Caucasus to China but also with new avenues of interpretation enriching our understanding of the spectacular golden deer of Eurasia.

From publisher's description: The Golden Deer of Eurasia, Where Rivers and Mountains Sing Theodore Levin, Valentina Süzükei, 2010-11-15

Theodore Levin takes readers on a journey through the rich sonic world of inner Asia where the elemental energies of wind, water and echo the ubiquitous presence of birds and animals and the legendary feats of heroes have inspired a remarkable art and technology of sound making among nomadic pastoralists. As performers from Tuva and other parts of inner Asia have responded to the growing worldwide popularity of their music, Levin follows them to the West detailing their efforts to nourish global connections while preserving the power and poignancy of their music traditions.

The Scythians Barry Cunliffe, 2019-10-15

Brilliant horsemen and great fighters, the Scythians were nomadic horsemen who ranged wide across the grasslands of the Asian steppe from the Altai mountains in the east to the Great Hungarian Plain in the first millennium BC. Their steppe homeland bordered on a number of sedentary states to the south: the Chinese, the Persians and the Greeks, and there were inevitably numerous interactions between the nomads and their neighbours. The Scythians fought the Persians on a number of occasions, in one battle killing their king and on another occasion driving the invading army of Darius the Great from the steppe. Relations with the Greeks around the shores of the Black Sea were rather different, both communities benefiting from trading with each other. This led to the development of a brilliant art style, often depicting scenes from Scythian mythology and everyday life. It is from the writings of Greeks like the historian Herodotus that we learn of Scythian life, their beliefs, their burial practices, their love of fighting and their ambivalent attitudes to gender. It is a world that is also brilliantly illuminated by the rich material culture recovered from Scythian burials: from the graves of kings on the Pontic steppe with their elaborate gold work and vividly coloured fabrics to the frozen tombs of the Altai mountains where all the organic material—wooden carvings, carpets, saddles and even tattooed human bodies—is amazingly well preserved Barry Cunliffe here marshals this vast array of evidence both archaeological and textual in a masterful reconstruction of the lost world of the Scythians allowing them to emerge in all their considerable vigour and splendour for the first time in over two millennia History of Central Asia, The: 4-volume set Christoph Baumer, 2018-04-18 This set includes all four volumes of the critically acclaimed History of Central Asia series The epic plains and arid deserts of Central Asia have witnessed some of the greatest migrations as well as many of the most transformative developments in the history of civilization Christoph Baumer's ambitious four volume treatment of the region charts the 3000 year drama of Scythians and Sarmatians Soviets and transcontinental Silk Roads trade routes and the transmission of ideas across the steppes and the breathless and brutal conquests of Alexander the Great and Chinghiz Khan Masterfully interweaving the stories of individuals and peoples the author's engaging prose is richly augmented throughout by colour photographs taken on his own travels This set includes The Age of the Steppe Warriors Volume 1 The Age of the Silk Roads Volume 2 The Age of Islam and the Mongols Volume 3 and The Age of Decline and Revival Volume 4 Nomads and Networks Sören Stark, Karen Sydney Robinson, Zainolla Samashevich Samashev, Jennifer Chi, 2012 Catalogue from the exhibition held at the Institute for the Study of the Ancient World at New York University March 7 June 3 2012 On Exhibit, 2001 Minerva, 2002 The Times Index, 2000 Indexes the Times and its supplements The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells, 2002
